

(48)
Queens House Mar. 26. 1786.

My Dear William, I have received your letter of the 12th. I am sorry to find so valuable a subject as Rbleman is dead his assiduity and activity will render whoever may be his successor in a difficult situation to bear the comparison which will naturally be made. Should the nomination fall to the share of J<sup>r</sup>. Falke I have no doubt by what I have heard of him that he will not be wanting in zeal. The hurry occasioned by the busy scene of dissolving the late Parliament and the steps now going for electing the new one makes me conclude thus abruptly. I shall ever remain

My Dear William
Your most affectionate Father George J.

[Faint, illegible handwriting in cursive script, likely a historical document or letter, spanning the entire page.]

Mar 26-84