British Headquarters.
Feb^r 21. 1814.

Dear Sir,

I am to acknowledge yours of the 13th instant and rejoice to find the French are now more so far ahead: the weather has been and is still with us more or less, severe; your account of the conduct of the French, says a kindness of which has given me sincere pleasure and I am willing to think that if
- but: none can be more really interested in your lot than myself and I shall be most truly happy to hear that he and his family are all more comfortable.

I shall be most anxious to return to all those who are and ought to be dear to me at Busby. I make no doubt you will arrange the best opportunity to my satisfaction & desire that we meet and ever believe me,

Dear Sir,

Yours sincerely
J. H. P.
