My dear Brother,

From the friendship and regard you will know subsist between my friend Wynn and myself you will I hope excuse me that I now trouble you again on the subject of his appointment to the Agent Victuals ship at Plymouth: the time now draws near for a vacancy: the present proprietor of this post is exceedingly ill and on his way to Bath from whence the post he takes it is supposed he will never march: now my dear Brother rest your interest for the sake of my Friend Wynn: he is really an honest respectable man and from whom as well as from his family I have received the greatest civility and friendship. At this present moment I am with Mrs. in the country at their house mean to return next Thursday to Plymouth. I must once more repeat do all you can for him. I hope you will succeed in getting me the channel station. There is a very good argument in representing the unsettled state of Europe.

Ever sincerely,

Your most affectionate
Friend and Brother,

J. P. M.
