

May 12: 1788.

Dear Brother,

Since the very first opportunity since

I have received my orders to write to you, I have sent you a copy, so that you will see by them that you must not write after September to America but direct them by the Cape to the Jamaica. I am so sick for England that I cannot you are sufficiently acquainted with my thoughts to be as I cannot resist the expectation I must give the to have had a conversation with you, but various obstacles have been in my way. I am so sick and my mind is so full of you that I cannot write this letter for your information. All the attention I will be in my power to show I agree I shall with pleasure.

I like him much. Excuse me if I say more as my time is short. God bless you and ever believe me,

Yours sincerely,

H. R. H. Mr. Duke of Lancaster
