Dear Brother,

Conveying the message through

Theatre would be returned to Mr. Jordan. I did not know you wrote you today what was my intention: allow me now to return you my sincere thanks for your friendship and kindness on this occasion: and believe me I shall ever be grateful for your advice: but you may safely congratulate me on my success: every thing is arranged: they never were married: I have all the necessary papers and even legal ones: I have acquired full and ample possession of the house in Somerset Street as if I had been an inheritant for ten years: no letter could possibly contain the particulars: suspend their judgment till we meet: in your way to Windsor come here Sunday: only be fully persuaded Mr. Jordan through a course of eleven months and his difficulty has behaved like an angel: I am sure I am to well acquainted with your friends but to doubt for a moment you will say dear brother behave kindly to the man who has helped so deservedly my best and confidence and who has given me so many inconvinient and chagrinful proofs of the most uncommon shabby attachment.

1884

I have made me very happy by assuring me of your perfect recovery. He told me you was not acquainted with the King's prohibition to Frederick in turning: have you heard from the Duke: I hope Sunday you will call here if it is only for five minutes: adieu my dear Brother: best wishes and compliments attend Mrs. Pitt and ever believe me

Yours sincerely

W. Pitt
