Dear Sir,

Having left town on the ^{4th} instant in the evening for Barbis, I did not receive yours of yesterday till ten at night and saw I was to have your answer it before.

I have delay'd till the last moment writing because I thought I might have had a line from you of today. But now wait-ing out for my return to Barbis I take up my pen to express my entire satisfaction at the good success you were enabled yesterday to give me of His Majesty's.

I trust in consequence your silence proceeds from the continuance in the improvement of the health of the King and with this comfortable and pleasing reflection I ever remain,

Dear Sir,

Yours truly

William
