

The Duke of Clarence

45243

St. James's,
Saturday Afternoon.

My Dear Brother,

My time has been so short I shall not be able to join you fully prepared tomorrow at Brighton: but on Monday I shall be with you to a certainty between five and six: in the mean time however I will shortly state three propositions.

The first is to pay off my London Debt the Platery Debt and the Quarry Debt and then for me to receive that sum that will make my income six and thirty thousand a year: the second is to have my different debts unpaid and for me to receive fifty thousand a year: in either case I shall require a town residence and the house at Buckingham completely put into order and new furnished: I shall on Monday be with you fully prepared on both these points and you may rest assured I shall obey your instruc-tions in every way as to secrecy: I beg you and ever believe me,

Dearest Brother

Yours most affectionately

William
