My dearest Son I received Your Letter just when I awoke with the inclosed to Baron Alvensleben, which I shall put amongst the rest of the Papers You sent me in order to make Use of them when Necessary.

I have only to add that it was not owing to Lady Harcourt's presence that I said nothing particular to You & Your Brother, but that I had Nothing to Say. which Confession must surprize You as it comes from a Woman.

I am my dearest Son
