My Dearest Mary,

I have to thank you for two kind letters received this morning from which I have learnt with great satisfaction that poor Amelia had passed a better night than could have been expected, after a day of such painful exertion. Your attention in writing subsequently to your arrival at Woodgate I am not less concerned upon me, and to know that dear Amelia had got so far upon her journey is a great comfort, although I cannot deny that her arrival here will alone relieve me from the constant anxiety which I feel. I am glad that the last has been made more easy, and am not indignant to his being healed. Kind attention in riding, due to General Guthrie, as to the care shown by the latter in providing for your accommodation.

Believe me &c.

(Signed) George R.
