My Dearest Mary,

The account conveyed in the kind letter which I have received from you this morning is upon the whole more satisfactory than those preceding it, and I hope that dear Amelia will be able to undertake the Journey about the time mentioned in your letter of the 25th, though I wish it to be understood that I should very much regret it's taking place even then, if the delay of a few days should be considered beneficial to her. Every Attention appears to have been paid to the Decree so important to her in her present State and I am sensible of the feelings of those who consulted in it. You will I trust, be comfortably lodged in Costas Tuberdens House, and you cannot rejoice more in the Prospect of being again with her than does

My Dearest Mary

Your most affectionate Father

(Signed) George.
