I cannot sufficiently thank you, my dear Miss Hunt, for your very kind, & truly affectionate letter, which I shall always keep, & value highly, as a proof of the sincerity of your regard.

It is now a long, very long time since I have had the pleasure of seeing you, but still I hope a time will come, when I shall again have that gratification which believe me I shall esteem a very great one; mean while I well know that whether absent or present, I am always attended by your good wishes. I almost fear I did not altogether deserve as much kindness as you have shewn me. But we will look forward, & hope what is to come, may obliterate the past.

That you have my sincere regard rest for ever assured; for I have learnt to value, as I ought, those who have the goodness to tell me of my faults.

Believe me to be ever My dear Miss Thurt Your ever Affectionate Charlotte.

P.S. I am much obliged to Miss Bowdler for her remembrance of me & hope she is well.
