

H. U. G. H. N. K. A. N.

May 3 1772

1305

Lord Ashm. Having by some neglect or ^{omitted to} send to you yesterday my answer to your communication of the debate of Friday. Upon finding it this morning still read it with content my fullest approbation of your conduct.

H. U. G. H. N. K. A. N.

May 3 1772.

in p. H. U. G. H. N. K. A. N.

30.

[Faint, illegible handwritten text on aged paper, possibly bleed-through from the reverse side. The text is written in a cursive script and is mostly obscured by the paper's texture and fading.]