

Ed. Chancellor to Col. J. McKelvey.

Feb. 18 1811

17592-3

The Chancellor requests Colonel McKelvey to present his very humble Duty to His Royal Highness The Prince Regent, and to inform his R. H. that he has not received his Commands till it was impossible for him to obey them this Evening at the Time mentioned.

The Chancellor's Court sitting tomorrow, it will be out of his Power to leave it, so as to wait upon His R. H. at eleven. The Banbury

Ed. Chancellor to Col. J. McMahon.

Feb. 18 1811

18 Feb. '11

17593

Perap is to come under the Consideration of the House of Lords to morrow at 3 o'clock: the Chancellor will call at Carlston House about 1/2 past one, or two, if it was not inconvenient to His R. H. graciously then to see him - if it should be so, Col. McMahon will be pleased to mention that the Chancellor could attend to learn his R. H.'s pleasure on Wednesday after leaving Westm<sup>r</sup> Abbey, which he should suppose would be about two o'clock. The Chancellor can receive Col. McMahon's business on his return from Dublin to morrow Evening; if it should be, as it probably may be, inconvenient to give his R. H. the benefit of extraordinary his pleasure as to what business to signify

Recd from 18 Feb 1811

18th March 1941

Lord Eldon

The Lord Chancellor

[Faint, illegible handwritten text, likely bleed-through from the reverse side of the paper.]