Sir

I understand from your correspondent That "if the paper which I wish to present to the Prince Regent is of a public nature it is the usual custom to transmit it through you, when there are no levies; but if it be of a private nature, and personal to myself, you are thoroughly sure his Royal Highness will receive me with very great pleasure, and with every attention to its object"

I am exceedingly flattered by the very handsome expressions in your letter relative personally to me.

I am however very sorry for its contents and can only transmit the paper to you open to be considered by yours and others better judgement

I am Sir

your most obedt

F Burdett
