Sir

Had I not been a perfect nonentity yesterday, I should have intruded with a few lines ~~your~~ <sup>my</sup> some hours before I saw Sir Thomas Byronwhitt, who has informed your Royal Highness of Lady Stuy's approaching match, she is much pleased and highly grateful for all my beloved Prince Regent has done her the honor to express, on this subject.

To save you, my most dear Universality, from any gaping reports which might give alarm on account of my future happiness, depend upon it, the Prince Regent shall have the earliest information when ever

I determine to change my present solitary state, or play any more wonderful trick.

I have the honor to be my most Dear Prince Regent Your Royal Highness's Dutiful + truly affectionate
