Puthead, April 15th
1815.

My Dear friend

The wind is adverse, & we are forced to anchor a signal which we had at day-break for our conveyance to high water. Luckily the breeze is so weak it is not to be likely to last. We shall wait patiently aboard to take advantage of the earliest change. The boat will however, say last long enough for us to leave your quarters. Therefore let us ask you if there is any truth in a report which Sir Henry Pollock has this day mentioned to me, that the Directors had a secret Court in which it was proposed to an--null my appointment. I cannot imagine that such a circumstance occurred, because one cannot comprehend what ground could be advanced for so extravagant a procedure.

Pray forward the Packet to Adam, as like-wise that for Lord Eschire. Be sure by a safe hand.

God bless you, my Dear Friend.

Carefully yours

John B. Eschire
 Esq.

There is an S. Johnson, whose letter I enclose. You saying a good word for him as the Phœnix goes in Ireland, may be accepted. I will try to do it if necessary, as it is only for advancement in his line.
