A.A. No. 326.

20959 Sir,

not having been favoured with an answer since I had the pleasure of addressing you, I take the liberty of enquiring whether a Letter came to your hands, in which I enclosed the little account of my Journey to Brighton when I had the honour of obeying the Command of His Royal Highness The Prince Regent, and which Mr. Robert Gray of Somerset House was accustomed to settle on my return to Town, who directed my application to you.

Yours
Yours most humble servant
Charles Wesley.

The first report on which the Board of Directors of the Bank of England has been asked to report is that of the Committee of Enquiry into the operations of the Bank of England during the year 1913.
 The Committee has reported that the operations of the Bank during the year have been conducted in accordance with the provisions of the Act of 1844, and that the Bank has maintained its position as a sound and solvent institution.
 The Committee also reports that the Bank has been successful in carrying out its policy of maintaining the value of the pound sterling.
