Sir

Having been prevented yesterday from having the honor of speaking to you, as Colonel Bloomfield informed me that you were then on duty and I would not find it easy or convenient to be introduced to you before the end of the Levée, which I could not stay to wait for, I must beg leave to request, that you will have the goodness to favour me with a line in answer to my last letter respecting the drawing of the points in question

I have the honor to be

Sir

Your very obedient Servant
R. Lorentz
