London Nov 29th 1813

Hon.<sup>ble</sup> Sir

I have again taken the liberty of addressing His Royal Highness the Prince Regent, and of inclosing it to your honor, the known interest which you feel in whatever relates either to the national welfare, or the happiness of a Prince deservedly dear to yourself in common with all his subjects, renders it I presume only necessary for me to assure your honor that there is nothing contained in the inclos'd, but a few humble and loyal ideas on a plan arising from existing circumstances, which if carried into effect is I humbly conceive calculated to secure the happiness of the Country, & the glory of our illustrious Prince, I return your honor my most grateful thanks for presenting my former letter, and I humbly hope that your honor will have the goodness to present this together with my humble & most respectful devotion to his Royal Highness — with sincere prayers for your happiness I remain honor'd Sir

Your honors
most devoted & very humble Servant
