HIS MAJESTY will be in his Chamber, near the South Entrance into Westminster-Hall.

The Peers will then be called over in the House of Lords by Deputy Garter; and will proceed to the Hall, where the other Persons appointed to walk in the Procession will have been previously marshalled on the right and left by the Officers of Arms; leaving an open passage in the middle, so that the Procession with the Regalia may pass uninterruptedly up the Hall.

B

HIS MAJESTY, preceded by the Great Officers of State, will then go into the Hall, and take his Seat in the Chair of State at the Table, when a Gun will be fired. The Deputy Lord Great Chamberlain, the Lord High Constable, and the Deputy Earl Marshal, will ascend the Steps, and place themselves at the outer side of the Table.

The Lord High Steward, the Great Officers, Deputy Garter, and Black Rod, will arrange themselves near the Chair of State; the Royal Trainbearers on each side of the Throne.

The Lord Chamberlain, assisted by Officers of the Jewel-Office, will then bring the Sword of State to the Lord High Constable, who will deliver it to the Deputy Lord Great Chamberlain, by whom it will be laid upon the Table; then Curtana, or the Sword of Mercy, with the two Swords of Justice, being in like manner presented, will be drawn from their Scabbards by the Deputy Lord Great Chamberlain, and laid on the Table before His Majesty; after which the Gold Spurs will be delivered, and also placed on the Table. Immediately after, a Procession, consisting of the Dean and Prebendaries of Westminster, in their Surplices and rich Copes, will proceed up the Hall, from the lower end thereof, in manner following:

PROCESSION with, and DELIVERY of THE REGALIA.

Serjeant of the Vestry, in a Scarlet Mantle.

Children of the King's Chapel, in Scarlet Mantles, four abreast.

Children of the Choir of Westminster, in Surplices, four abreast.

Gentlemen of the King's Chapel, in Scarlet Mantles, four abreast.

Choir of Westminster, in Surplices, four abreast.

Sub-Dean of the Chapel Royal.

Two Pursuivants of Arms.

Two Heralds.

The two Provincial Kings of Arms.

The Dean of Westminster, carrying St. Edward's Crown on a Cushion of Cloth of Gold.

First Prebendary of Westminster, carrying the Orb.

Second Prebendary, carrying the Sceptre with the Dove.

Third Prebendary, carrying the Sceptre with the Cross.

Fourth Prebendary, carrying St. Edward's Staff.

Fifth Prebendary, carrying the Chalice and Patina.

Sixth Prebendary, carrying the Bible.

In this Procession they make their Reverences, first at the lower end of the Hall, secondly about the middle, where both the Choirs opening to the right and left will form a passage, through which the Officers of Arms passing will open likewise on each side, the Seniors placing themselves nearest towards the Steps: then the Dean and Prebendaries having come to the front of the Steps, will make their third Reverence. This being done, the Dean and Prebendaries being come to the foot of the Steps, Deputy Garter preceding them (he having waited their coming there), will ascend the Steps, and approaching near the Table before the King, make their last Reverence. The Dean will then present the Crown to the Lord High Constable, who will deliver it to the Deputy Lord Great Chamberlain, and by him it will be placed on the Table before the King. The rest of the Regalia will be severally delivered by each Prebendary, on his knee, to the Dean, by him to the Lord High Constable, by him to the Deputy Lord Great Chamberlain, and by him laid on the Table. The Regalia being thus delivered, the Prebendaries and Dean will return to the middle of the Hall. His Majesty having commanded Deputy Garter to summon the Noblemen and Bishops who are to bear the Regalia, the Deputy Lord Great Chamberlain, then taking up the several Swords, Sceptres, the Orb, and Crown, will place them in the hands of those by whom they are to be carried.

First, St. Edward's Staff, by the Marquess of Salisbury.

Second, the Spurs, by the Lord Calthorpe, as Deputy to the Baroness Grey de Ruthyn.

Third, the Sceptre with the Cross, by the Marquess Wellesley.

Fourth, the pointed Sword of Temporal Justice, by the Earl of Galloway.

Fifth, the pointed Sword of Spiritual Justice, by the Duke of Northumberland.

Sixth, Curtana, or Sword of Mercy, by the Duke of Newcastle.

Seventh, the Sword of State, by the Duke of Dorset.

Eighth, the Sceptre with the Dove, by the Duke of Rutland.

Ninth, the Orb, by the Duke of Devonshire.

Tenth, St. Edward's Crown, by the Marquess of Anglesey, as Lord High Steward.

Eleventh, the Patina, by the Bishop of Gloucester.

Twelfth, the Chalice, by the Bishop of Chester.

Thirteenth, the Bible, by the Bishop of Ely.

The two Bishops who are to support His Majesty will then be summoned by Deputy Garter, and, ascending the Steps, place themselves on each side of the King.

PROCESSION TO THE ABBEY.

The Second Gun will then be fired, and the Procession will move upon Blue Cloth spread on the Platform from the Throne in Westminster Hall to the great Steps in the Abbey Church; the following Anthem, "O Lord, grant the King a long life," &c. being sung in parts, in succession with His Majesty's Band playing, the sounding of Trumpets, and the beating of Drums, until the arrival in the Abbey.

On the Arrival of the Procession at the Abbey, the Herb-Woman and her Maids and the Serjeant-Porter will remain at the Entrance within the great West Door, the Drums and Trumpets will file off to their Gallery over the Entrance Door. The Choirs of the Chapel-Royal and of Westminster will immediately proceed, with His Majesty's Band, to the Organ Gallery; and, on His Majesty's entering the Abbey, the Choirs will commence singing the Anthem: "I was glad when they said unto me, 'We will go into the House of the Lord';" &c.

The Prebendaries, and Dean of Westminster, will file off to the left, about the middle of the Nave, and there await the King's coming into the Church; when they will again fall into the Procession next before the Kings of Arms who precede the Great Officers.

That Part of the Procession preceding the Knights Commanders of the Bath, the Knights Commanders of the Bath, Knights Grand Crosses of the said Order, and their Officers, the Clerks of the Privy Council in ordinary, the Privy Councillors, the Register of the Garter, Vice Chamberlain, Comptroller and Treasurer of his Majesty's Household, and Peers, will be conducted to their Seats by the Officers of Arms.

The Prebendaries of Westminster will go to their places near the Altar.

The Serjeants at Arms will go to their Places near the Theatre.

The Standards will be delivered by the Bearers of them to Pages at the entrance of the Choir, and resumed and borne in the Return.

The Princes of the Blood Royal will be conducted to their Seats as Peers.

The Prince Leopold to his Seat in the Royal Box.

The Barons of the Cinque Ports bearing the Canopy, and the Gentlemen Pensioners, will remain at the Entrance of the Choir.

The King, ascending the Theatre, will pass on the South side of the Throne to His Chair of State on the East side thereof, opposite to the Altar; and after His private devotion, (kneeling down upon the Fald-Stool,) will take His Seat, the two Bishops, His Supporters, standing on each side; the Noblemen bearing the Four Swords on His Right Hand, the Deputy Lord Great Chamberlain and the Lord High Constable on His Left; the Great Officers of State, the Deputy Earl Marshal, the Dean of Westminster, the Noblemen bearing the Regalia, Trainbearers, with Deputy Garter, the Lord Lyon, the Lord Mayor of London, and Black Rod, standing about the King's Chair.

THE RECOGNITION.

Upon the conclusion of the Anthem, the Lord Archbishop of Canterbury, together with the Lord Chancellor, the Deputy Lord Great Chamberlain, the Lord High Constable, and Deputy Earl Marshal, preceded by Deputy Garter, will move to the East side of the Theatre, where the Archbishop will make the Recognition, and repeat the same at the South, West, and North sides of the Theatre: during which His Majesty will be standing, and turned towards the People on the side on which the Recognition is made: the People replying to this Demand with loud and repeated acclamations of "God save King GEORGE the Fourth;" and at the last Recognition, the Trumpets will sound, and the Drums will beat.

His Majesty will then be seated; and the Bible, the Chalice, and Patina, will be carried to and placed upon the Altar by the Bishops who had borne them in the Procession.

The Two Officers of the Wardrobe will then spread a rich Cloth of Gold, and lay a Cushion of the same for His Majesty to kneel on, at the Steps of the Altar. The Archbishop of Canterbury will put on his Cope, and the Bishops, who are to sing the Litany, will also be vested in their Copes.

THE OFFERING.

The King, attended by the two Bishops His Supporters, the Dean of Westminster, and the Noblemen bearing the Regalia and the Four Swords, will pass to the Altar; where His Majesty, uncovered and kneeling upon the Cushion, will make His First Offering of a Pall or Altar-Cloth of Gold, which will be delivered by the Lord Chamberlain to the Deputy Lord Great Chamberlain, and by his Lordship to the King, who will deliver it to the Archbishop of Canterbury, by whom it will be placed on the Altar. The Treasurer of the Household will then deliver an Ingot of Gold, of one pound weight, being the Second Offering, to the Deputy Lord Great Chamberlain, who having presented the same to the King, His Majesty will deliver it to the Archbishop, to be by him put into the Oblation-Basin. His Majesty continuing to kneel, the Prayer "O God, who dwellest in the high and holy place," will be said by the Archbishop. At the conclusion of this Prayer, The King will rise and be conducted to the Chair of State on the South side of the Area. The Regalia, except the Swords, will be delivered by the several Noblemen who bore the same, to the Archbishop, and by his Grace to the Dean of Westminster to be laid on the Altar, the Noblemen returning to their places.

The Litany will then be read by two Bishops, vested in Copes, and kneeling at a Fald-Stool above the Steps of the Theatre, on the middle of the East side thereof. Then will be read the beginning of the Communion Service; and after it a Sermon by the Archbishop of York. During the Sermon His Majesty will wear His Cap of State, and sit in His Chair on the South side of the Area, opposite the Pulpit, His Supporters, the Deputy Lord Great Chamberlain, and the Noblemen carrying the Swords, standing by Him: the Archbishop of Canterbury will take his Seat in a Purple Velvet Chair on the North side of the Altar, Deputy Garter standing near him. The Bishops on their Benches, along the North side of the Area. The Dean and Prebendaries of Westminster, standing on the South side of the Area, East of the King's Chair, and near the Altar.

THE OATH.

The Sermon being concluded, the Archbishop of Canterbury, advancing to the King, will administer the Coronation Oath: The King will then arise from His Chair of State, and, attended by His Supporters, and the Deputy Lord Great Chamberlain, will go uncovered to the Altar, where, kneeling upon the Cushion laid on the Steps, and placing His Hand on the Holy Gospels, His Majesty will take the Oath, and add thereto His Royal Sign Manual, the Lord Chamberlain of the Household holding a Silver Standish for that purpose.

The King returning to His Chair, the following Hymn will be sung, the Archbishop reading the first line, "Come, Holy Ghost, our Souls inspire," &c.

THE ANOINTING.

Upon the conclusion of the Hymn, the Archbishop will read the Prayer preparatory to the Anointing ("O Lord, Holy Father, who, by anointing with Oil, didst of old make and consecrate Kings, Priests, and Prophets," &c.) At the conclusion of this Prayer, the Choirs will sing the following Anthem, "Zadock the Priest," &c. During this Anthem, The King will be disrobed of His Crimson Robes by the Deputy Lord Great Chamberlain, who will deliver them to the Master of the Robes; and His Majesty taking off His Cap of State, the Deputy Lord Great Chamberlain will deliver the same to the Lord Chamberlain: and the Robes and Cap will be immediately carried into St. Edward's Chapel, the Robes by the Groom of the Robes, the Cap by the Officer of the Jewel-Office. St. Edward's Chair (covered with Cloth of Gold) having been placed in front of the Altar, His Majesty will take His Seat therein to be anointed; when Four Knights of the Garter, summoned by Deputy Garter, will hold over the King's Head a rich Pall or Cloth of Gold, delivered to them by the Lord Chamberlain, and the Dean of Westminster will stand by, holding the Ampulla containing the consecrated Oil, and pouring some into the Anointing Spoon, the Archbishop will anoint His Majesty on the Head and Hands, in the form of a Cross, pronouncing the words, "Be thy Head anointed," &c. "Be thy Hands anointed," &c.

The King then kneeling, the Archbishop, standing on the North side of the Altar, will pronounce the Benediction. The Knights of the Garter will deliver the Pall to the Lord Chamberlain.

THE INVESTING WITH THE SUPERTUNICA.

The Dean of Westminster will then receive from the Officers of the Wardrobe, the Supertunica of Cloth of Gold, and a Girdle of the same for the Sword, with which the Dean will array His Majesty.

THE SPURS.

After this the Dean will take the Spurs from the Altar, and deliver them to the Deputy Lord Great Chamberlain, who, kneeling down, will touch His Majesty's Heels therewith, and return them to the Dean, by whom they will be laid upon the Altar.

THE SWORD.

The Nobleman who carries the Sword of State will now deliver it to the Lord Chamberlain, and in return receive another Sword in a Scabbard of Purple Velvet, which his Lordship will deliver to the Archbishop, who will lay it on the Altar, and say the Prayer ("Hear our Prayers, O Lord, we beseech thee; and so direct and support thy Servant King GEORGE, who is now to be girt with this Sword," &c.)

The Archbishop, assisted by other Bishops, will then deliver the Sword into the King's Right Hand, saying "Receive this Kingly Sword," &c. His Majesty then standing up, the Deputy Lord Great Chamberlain will gird His Majesty with the Sword. The King being again seated, the Archbishop will repeat "Remember Him of whom," &c.

OFFERING OF THE SWORD.

The King, then rising up, ungirds the Sword, and goes to the Altar, where His Majesty will offer it in the Scabbard (delivering it to the Archbishop), and then retire to His Chair: the Sword will then be redeemed for one Hundred Shillings by the Nobleman who first received it, and who will carry it during the remainder of the Solemnity; having first drawn it out of the Scabbard, and delivered the latter to an Officer of the Wardrobe.

THE INVESTING WITH THE MANTLE AND ARMIL.

The King then standing, His Majesty will be invested by the Dean with the Imperial Mantle, or Dalmatic Robe, of Cloth of Gold, delivered to Him by the Officers of the Wardrobe; and His Majesty will then be invested in like manner with the Armil, the Archbishop pronouncing the Exhortation: "Receive this Armil as a Token of the Divine Mercy embracing You on every side."

THE ORB.

The King then sits down, and the Archbishop, having received the Orb from the Dean, delivers it into the King's Right Hand, saying, "Receive this Imperial Orb," &c.

His Majesty then returns the Orb to the Dean, who lays it upon the Altar.

THE RING.

The Lord Chamberlain then delivers the Ruby Ring to the Archbishop, which His Grace puts on the Fourth Finger of the King's Right Hand, the Archbishop saying, "Receive this Ring," &c.

The Dean will then bring from the Altar the Two Sceptres with the Cross and Dove, and deliver them to the Archbishop.

In the mean time, the Lord of the Manor of Worksop presents His Majesty with a Pair of Gloves, embroidered with the Arms of Howard, which His Majesty will put on.

THE SCEPTRES.

The Archbishop will then deliver the Sceptre with the Cross into His Majesty's Right Hand, saying "Receive the Royal Sceptre," &c.; and then the Sceptre with the Dove into his Left Hand, saying, "Receive the Rod of Equity," &c.

The Lord of the Manor of Worksop will support His Majesty's Right Arm, and hold the Sceptre, as occasion requires.

THE CROWNING.

The Archbishop standing before the Altar, and having St. Edward's Crown before him, will take the same into his hands, and consecrate and bless it with the Prayer, "O God, who crownest thy faithful Servants with Mercy," &c. Then the Archbishop, assisted by other Bishops, will come from the Altar, the Dean of Westminster carrying the Crown, and the Archbishop will take, and place it on His Majesty's Head; while the People, with loud and repeated Shouts, will cry "God save the King!" the Trumpets sounding, the Drums beating; and the Tower and Park Guns firing by signal. The Acclamation ceasing, the Archbishop will pronounce the Exhortation: "Be strong and of a good courage," &c. The Choirs will then sing the following Anthem: "The King shall rejoice in thy strength," &c.

As soon as The King is crowned, the Peers will put on their Coronets; the Bishops their Caps; and the Kings of Arms their Crowns.

THE HOLY BIBLE.

The Dean then taking the Holy Bible from the Altar, will deliver it to the Archbishop, who, attended by the rest of the Bishops, will present it to the King, saying, "Our Gracious King," &c. &c.; The King will return the Bible to the Archbishop, who will give it to the Dean, to be by him replaced on the Altar.

The Archbishop then pronouncing the Benedictions, the Bishops and the Peers will answer each Benediction with a loud AMEN. The Archbishop then turning to the People, will say, "And the same Lord God Almighty, grant," &c. The King will then kiss the Archbishops and Bishops, who kneel before Him. The Te Deum will be sung, during which time The King will remove to the Chair on which His Majesty first sat, on the East side of the Throne.

THE INTHRONIZATION.

Te Deum being ended, The King will then be enthroned by the Bishops and Peers; and the Archbishop will pronounce the Exhortation, "Stand firm, and hold fast," &c.

THE HOMAGE.

The Archbishop of Canterbury will then kneel before the King, and, for himself and the other Lords Spiritual, will pronounce the words of Homage, the Bishops kneeling around him, and saying after him. The Archbishop will then kiss His Majesty's left Cheek, and the rest of the Bishops after him, and retire. Then the Duke of York, ascending the steps of the Throne, and taking off his Coronet, will kneel before the King, and, for himself and the other Dukes of the Blood Royal, pronounce the words of Homage, the rest putting off their Coronets, kneeling with him and about him, and saying after him. The Duke of York will then touch the Crown upon His Majesty's Head, and kiss His Majesty's left Cheek, the rest of the Dukes of the Blood Royal after him, and retire. The Dukes and other Peers will observe the same, the Senior of each Degree pronouncing the words of Homage, and the rest of the same Degree saying after him, and each Peer of the same Degree, successively, touching His Majesty's Crown, and kissing His Majesty's left Cheek, and then retiring.

During this time, the Treasurer of His Majesty's Household will throw about the Medals of the Coronation.

During the Homage, the Sceptre with the Cross will be held, on the King's right hand, by the Lord of the Manor of Worksop; and the Sceptre with the Dove, by the Duke of Rutland.

THE HOLY SACRAMENT.

After the Homage, the two Bishops, who had read the Epistle and Gospel, will receive from the Altar, by the hands of the Archbishop, the Patina and the Chalice, which they will carry into St. Edward's Chapel, and bring from thence the Bread upon the Patina and the Wine in the Chalice. His Majesty will then descend from the Throne, and go to the Altar, where, taking off His Crown, His Majesty will deliver it to the Lord Great Chamberlain to hold. Then the Bishops will deliver the Patina and Chalice into the King's hands; and His Majesty will deliver them to the Archbishop, who will reverently place the same upon the Altar, covering them with a fair linen cloth. His Majesty will then receive the Sacrament, the Archbishop administering the Bread, and the Dean of Westminster the Cup.

The Choir will then sing the last Anthem; "Blessed be thou, Lord God of Israel," &c.: and, at the conclusion, the Trumpets will sound, the Drums beat, and, amidst the acclamations of the assembly, The King will put on His Crown, and, taking the two Sceptres in His hands, again ascend the Throne, and sit there, supported and attended as before, until the conclusion of the Post-Communion Service and the Blessing.

After which His Majesty, attended as before, will descend into the Area, and pass through the Door on the South side of the Altar, into St. Edward's Chapel; and the Noblemen who had carried the Regalia will receive them from the Dean of Westminster as they pass by the Altar.

The King being come into the Chapel, and standing before the Altar, will deliver the Sceptres to the Archbishop, who will lay them upon the Altar. The rest of the Regalia will be delivered to the Dean, to be by him laid also on the Altar.

Then The King will be disrobed of His Royal Robe of State, and arrayed in His Royal Robe of Purple Velvet, by the Deputy Lord Great Chamberlain.

The Archbishop will deliver the Sceptre with the Cross into His Right Hand, and the Orb into His Left. The Dean will deliver the Sceptre with the Dove to the Nobleman who had before carried and will bear it in the returning Procession.

As soon as The King is gone into St. Edward's Chapel, the Officers of Arms will begin to call over and arrange the Procession for the Return to Westminster Hall; and at the moment when His Majesty comes out of the Chapel, the Procession will move forward in the following Order: except that the Noblemen who, in the former Procession, had borne the Gold Spurs, and St. Edward's Staff, left in St. Edward's Chapel, and the Orb and the Sceptre with the Cross, borne by His Majesty, will walk in their due places, according to their Degrees in the Peerage.

The Dinner will be placed on the Table by His Majesty's Two Clerks of the Kitchen.

The Deputy Lord Great Chamberlain, with His Majesty's Cupbearer the Earl of Abingdon, and his Assistant the Earl of Verulam, being preceded by Black Rod, will receive from the Officer of the Jewel-House the Gilt Basin and Ewer for His Majesty to wash, attended by the Lord of the Manor of Heydon with the Towel. The King rising, and delivering His Sceptre to the Lord of the Manor of Worksop, and the Orb to the Bishop standing on His Left Hand, the Cupbearer will pour out the Water on His Majesty's Hand, the Lord of the Manor of Heydon holding the Towel.

The Dean of the Chapel Royal will then say Grace; and His Majesty having taken His Seat, the Bishops His Supporters will retire to their Dinner.

On the King's Right Hand will stand the Lord of the Manor of Worksop holding the Sceptre; next to him on the same side, the Lords bearing the Four Swords: on His Majesty's Left Hand, the Duke of Devonshire with the Orb, and next to him the Deputy Lord Great Chamberlain, and next to him the Duke of Rutland, bearing the Sceptre with the Dove.

At the end of the Table on the King's Right Hand will be seated their Royal Highnesses the Dukes of York, Clarence, and Sussex; and on His Left Hand the Dukes of Cambridge and Gloucester, and the Prince Leopold of Saxe Cobourg.

The Duties of His Majesty's Carver will be performed by the Earl of Denbigh; and those of the Assistant-Carver by the Earl of Chichester. The Duties of His Majesty's Sewer will be performed by the Earl of Mount Edgecumbe; and those of the Assistant-Sewer by the Earl Whitworth.

Then the Deputy appointed by the Lord of the Manor of Addington will present the Mess of Dillegrout, prepared by the King's Master Cook.

The Lord of the Manor of Wymondley in Hertfordshire, assisted by the King's Cupbearer and his Assistant, will receive from the Officer of the Jewel-House, and, kneeling, present to His Majesty, a Silver Gilt Cup containing Wine; and His Majesty having drunk thereof, will return the Cup to him for his Fee.

The Duke of Argyll, as Great Master of the Household of Scotland, will then present a Gold Cup of Wine; and, His Majesty having drunk thereof, will return the Cup to him for his Fee.

THE CHALLENGE.

Before the Second Course, the Deputy appointed to officiate as King's Champion, for the Lord of the Manor of Scrivelsby in Lincolnshire, will enter the Hall on Horseback in a complete Suit of Bright Armour, between the Lord High Constable and Deputy Earl Marshal, also on Horseback, in the following manner:—

Two Trumpets with the Champion's Arms on their Banners.

Two Serjeants at Arms with their Maces on their Shoulders.

The Champion's two Esquires, in half Armour, one on the Right Hand bearing the Champion's Lance, the other on the Left Hand with the Champion's Target and the Arms of Dymoke depicted thereon.

A Herald, with a Paper in his Hand containing the Challenge.

The Deputy Earl Marshal on Horseback, in his Robes and Coronet, with the Earl Marshal's Staff in his Hand, attended by a Page.	The Champion, on Horse- back, in a complete Suit of Bright Armour, with a Gauntlet in his Hand, his Helmet on his Head, adorned with a Plume of Feathers.	The Lord High Constable in his Robes and Coronet, and Collar of his Order, on Horseback, with the Constable's Staff, attended by two Pages.

Four Pages, richly appavelled, Attendants on the Champion.

At the Entrance into the Hall, the Trumpets sound thrice, and the Passage to the King's Table being cleared by the Knight Marshal, the Herald will with a loud voice proclaim the Champion's Challenge, in the Words following:

If any Person, of what Degree soever, high or low, shall deny or gainsay Our Sovereign Lord King GEORGE the Fourth of the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland, Defender of the Faith, Son and next Heir to our Sovereign Lord King George the Third, the last King, deceased, to be right Heir to the Imperial Crown of this United Kingdom, or that He ought not to enjoy the same, here is his Champion, who saith that he lieth, and is a false Traitor; being ready in Person to combat with him, and in this Quarrel will adventure his Life against him on what Day soever he shall be appointed.

Whereupon the Champion throws down his Gauntlet; which, having lain a short time upon the ground, the Herald will take up, and deliver again to the Champion.

They then advance to the middle of the Hall, where the Ceremony is again performed in the same manner.

Lastly, they advance to the Steps of the Throne, where the Herald (and those who precede him) ascending to the middle of the Steps, will proclaim the Challenge in the like manner; when the Champion having thrown down his Gauntlet and received it again from the Herald, will make a low Obeisance to the King: whereupon the Cupbearer, having received from the Officer of the Jewel-House a Gold Cup and Cover filled with Wine, will present the same to the King, and His Majesty will drink to the Champion, and send to him by the Cupbearer the said Cup, which the Champion (having put on his Gauntlet) will receive; and having made a low Obeisance to the King, will drink of the Wine; after which, making another low Obeisance to His Majesty, and being accompanied as before, he will depart out of the Hall, taking with him the said Cup and Cover as his Fee.

PROCLAMATION OF THE STYLES.

Immediately after, Garter, attended by Clarenceux, Norroy, Lyon, Ulster, and the rest of the Officers of Arms, will proclaim His Majesty's Styles in Latin, French, and English, three several times, first upon the uppermost Step of the elevated Platform, next in the middle of the Hall, and lastly at the bottom of the Hall, the Officers of Arms before each Proclamation crying "Largesse" in the usual manner.

SECOND COURSE.

The Second Course will then be served up with the same Ceremony as the First.

SERVICES IN PURSUANCE OF CLAIMS.

Then the Lord of the Manor of Nether Bilsington will present His Majesty with three Maple Cups.

The Office of Chief Butler of England will be executed by the Duke of Norfolk, as Earl of Arundel and Lord of the Manor of Keninghall, who will receive a Gold Basin and Ewer as his Fee.

Dinner being concluded, the Lord Mayor and Twelve principal Citizens of London, as Assistants to the Chief Butler of England, accompanied by the King's Cupbearer and Assistant, will present to His Majesty Wine in a Gold Cup; and the King having drunk thereof, will return the Gold Cup to the Lord Mayor as his Fee.

The Mayor of Oxford, with the Eight other Burgesses of that City, as Assistants to the Lord Mayor and Citizens of London, as Assistant to the Chief Butler of England in the office of Butler, will be conducted to His Majesty, preceded by the King's Cupbearer, and having presented to the King a Bowl of Wine, will receive the three Maple Cups for his Fee.

The Lord of the Manor of Lyston, pursuant to his Claim, will then bring up a Charger of Wafers to His Majesty's Table.

The Duke of Atholl, as Lord of the Isle of Man, will present His Majesty with two Falcons.

The Duke of Montrose, as Master of the Horse to the King, will perform the Office of Serjeant of the Silver Scullery.

The Lord of the Barony of Bedford will perform the Office of Almoner; and the Office of Chief Larderer will be performed by the Deputy of the Earl of Abergavenny.
