On the removal of His Majesty's valuable Collection of Prints & Drawings from Buckingham House to Carlton Palace in June 1825, it was necessary for me to pay the same attention to them as I had done, therefore my whole time has been devoted to Carlton Palace, and have not received any Salary from His Majesty's Library since their removal.
I hope His Majesty will not think me extravagant, if I say £50 for the year. And if it should be His Majesty's pleasure for me to go on with the Theatricals, Clarendon, and Granger, and pay attention to the Prints & Drawings, I will attend to them all for the same salary as I had when at Buckingham House £100 per annum, or leave it to His Majesty's gracious pleasure.

File 1827

Statement of M^r. Harding, Librarian to Her late Majesty.

Upon the demise of Her Most Gracious Majesty, Sir Herbert Taylor brought me a message from His Royal Highness, the Prince Regent, expressive of His Royal Highness's approbation of my attention to Her late Majesty, and "that I should be made comfortable"

Sir Herbert afterwards finding, that he had not sufficient funds to carry the gracious intention (expressed by His Royal Highness towards me,) into effect, placed me in the situation formerly held by M^r. Chamberlain in the library, to take care of the Prints and Drawings, with a Salary of One Hundred a Year, in aid of my Pension, which was to the same amount.

Upon the removal of the Prints and Drawings from Buckingham House to Carlton House, and of the Library to Kensington, it was not possible for me to be of service to Mr. Barnard in the Library, because the Prints and Drawings required my whole attention: I therefore wrote to Mr. Barnard to that effect, since which my Salary has been stopped, tho' originally given in aid of my pension; but the Duties of my Situation, vizt. the care of the Prints and Drawings, have nevertheless been duly performed, until Dr. Sumner took the Collection out of my care.

In February 1820. I received His Majesty's most Gracious Commands, through Sir Hilgrove Turner, to arrange His Majesty's Collection of Theatrical Portraits, and to furnish Biographical Sketches of the Actors: To accomplish this, I was obliged to employ a Writing Master, and to incur expences, which His Majesty, appearing to be aware of, upon one occasion, spontaneously ordered a Sum of £50. to be paid to me on account thereof; since which a Bill of expences, signed, as being approved by Sir Hilgrove Turner, amounting to £149. has also been paid; and expences have subsequently been incurred in the further progress of this Work, amounting to about £220.

By the additional purchase of £5. worth of Prints, the Eighth Volume may be completed: And the whole, if continued down to the present day, would be comprized in Ten Volumes.*

His Majesty's gracious sanction of my labours, has been frequently, and condescendingly expressed; but the case of His Majesty's Prints and Drawings being now taken from me, I humbly trust that the grounds upon which the Salary of £100. a Year was originally granted, as an aid to my Pension, will be thought deserving the benevolent consideration of His Majesty.

In 1820 His Majesty Commanded me to attend Carlton House, which I did from 1820 untill it was taken down, from 10, till 4, every day, and for which have charged £260, that is about

My dear Danvers

I am not able to tell Sir Herbert Taylor, whether ~~he~~ this claim is still unsatisfied — the £100. went through my hands, but I know not whether any payment has since been made

I put it into your hands for many reasons. Sir William Knighton knows the merits of this Claim.

I have had a most excellent opportunity of mentioning you to Sir Hubert Taylor with a view of your being still employed in Privy Purse matters, although Sir Hubert will not — But he now knows (nevertheless) where to find, all that is good and honorable and excellent in You, and that Your Services would be of infinite advantage to The King. His Majesty knows it too, for he by accident ^{but} by a question to me in March last, & I did not miss the moment to speak of you as you richly deserve.

Be assured that I am with very sincere regard

Always faithfully

Yours

J. S. Mearns
