Kind Sir

That the liberty of the present communication will be exercised, and permit me to enclose a MS prospectus of my Essay on the Minute Anatomy of His Majesty.

Your former benevolence, was of the greatest assistance to me at the period, but having an increase to my family, my wife just out of her confinement, & myself also only convalescent, from almost a fatal attack of Inflammation of the Lungs, renders it of the greatest importance, for me to do something, towards my permanent subsistence, accordingly I have nearly completed my Essay on the Eye, and if I could by any means obtain a sum of money so as publish it, it will as you perceive by the accompanying estimate secure me a profit of about 300 £, which would Now, Sir, If by your kindness, I could procure the patronage of His Majesty, to enable me to complete & publish this splendid work, which could be executed in two months from the present date, it would ~~be~~ as I have already stated, make a fortune for my family, and as His Majesty is such a liberal patron of the Arts & Sciences, I doubt not of success. Should it be necessary, I will ~~say~~ <sup>write</sup> a humble memorial to him, if your kindness could give me that information, as to the best mode of presenting it. Permit me again, sincerely, to thank you, for your former kindness, and respectfully request the favour of an answer, and should you be out of London, when this arrives to your hands, might I request the favour of a Frank to your answer, (should you favor me with one) on account of the great expense

Address.

It is rather a matter of surprize, <sup>that</sup> in the present advanced state of medical knowledge, no work has yet appeared of any value, fit to place in the hands of the medical Student, on the Anatomy and Physiology of the Human Eye, with its Appendages, especially, when we reflect on the multitude of diseases to which the visual organs are liable, so little attention having been paid to this subject, has induced the Author to offer the present Essay to the consideration of his professional brethren, having been encouraged in its prosecution by the kind communications of Dr Jacob of Dublin, Mr Lizars of Edinburgh and other eminent characters in this Metropolis; and to render it more interesting to the Student & Practitioner, the Author has added illustrative remarks on the structure of the visual organs in the various classes & orders of Animals, &c.

which he trusts will be the means of giving rise to a greater cultivation of the science of Comparative Anatomy in Great Britain.

This work will be printed in Imperial 8<sup>vo</sup>, & embellished with about 12 engravings, coloured after nature, taken from original drawings, the works of Linn, Sömmerring, Bell, Lawrence, Lizars, Jacob, Cloquet, &c. &c. forming one splendid library volume.

---

The price to subscribers, will be "One Guinea", and in consequence of the great <sup>attendant</sup> expense, on the mechanical department, the Author respectfully proposes, that (in order to carry the work into execution) the amount of the copies, ~~are~~ to be paid at the time, Subscribers take their names.

Sir

I am again returned to Falmouth in a worse state of Mind, than ever. The first week after I had written to Sir Wm Knighton the hope of his kindly representing my case to His most Gracious Majesty, kept up my spirits and had the best effect on my Health, but after waiting in anxious suspense for a Month and no answer to my letter from Sir Wm the little ease I had acquired soon fled, and fearing to add if worse to the trouble of an already large family, I returned, with a Mind filled with gloomy Dispare and nothing you can do will dispell it for a moment, and I have not strength of Body longer to contend, oh Sir I have no one but you to advise me, what steps can I take to get my situation known to His Majesty all other powers are shut against me none they say can serve me, and Sir Wm by his silence seems to say he will not, I had great hopes from his knowledge of me and my Husband that he would have felt some pity for my misfortunes, but his exalted Rank has I fear deadened the Nobles feelings of our nature compassion for the unfortunate had I but write to him again but I shall take no steps till I have your kind advice as the one always a balm to my wounded heart and have often saved me from Dispare

My dear Sir

You may probably recollect that about two years since, I had the honor to wait on you, & to have a conversation with you concerning some schools I had in conjunction with Lord Dudley & other persons established at Brighton, making Education of Industry a part of the Education of the children of the Poor, which we found very instrumental, not only in checking the Juvenile Delinquency of the place, but in reforming the morals of their Parents. At the same time I mentioned a circumstance which had occurred by which <sup>we</sup> were much flattered, by the gracious <sup>attention</sup> had received from our great & beloved Royal Master. At the same time, I remarked that the only favor I presumed to ask, was the opportunity of doing good in a place, where His Majesty knew that Juvenile delinquency was excessive. I recollect that you remarked, that nothing could be done without consulting the Bishop of the Diocese. As his Lordship was not in Town, I went to Chichester; but as he was on his

Visitation, I had not an opportunity of seeing him. I now beg leave to renew my application to you, & to request your advice, as to what steps I should take to obtain His Majesty's gracious Patronage to the Schools established on a much more extensive scale, precisely on the same system, & subject to the same laws, rules, & regulations as the Foreign & British Schools which are honoured by His Majesty's gracious Patronage. It is unnecessary for me to say any thing of these Schools, than that they are founded on the whole of the Scriptures, that they admit no system unfavorable to the established Church; & tho' the Parents are permitted (as they are in the Central National School) to take their children to their own place of Worship, yet the great Majority of the children, at least 9 out of ten frequent the established Church, & are instructed in the Christian truths according to our Church Establishment. I cannot take upon me to say what may be the opinion of the Bishop of Chichester relative to these schools: but I believe that I may venture to appeal to His Lordship, as to the attention I have paid to instruct the children in Religious truths, & to keep them faithful to the established Church. If His Majesty would be graciously pleased to grant to the child the same Patronage as he has granted to the Parent school, it would be productive of great benefit to the Morals & Religion of Brighton, & confer a great obligation on one of the most faithful & most attached of His Majesty's Subjects.

 I should mention that I have always been an advocate for the National Schools to which I subscribe both in London & Brighton but I could not in conscience assent to a plan of exclusion warranted by the System of the Central National Schools in the Metropolis.
 I forgot to say that these schools for which I solicit His Majesty's Patronage have been erected by Subscriptions from His Majesty's Royal Barons The Dukes of Sussex & Cornwall The Dukes of Bedford & Devonshire The Earl of Dudley, & several other Persons of the first Rank. They have been visited by the Duchess of Gloucester & the Duke of Cambridge who expressed their full approbation of the System of Industry of which is made a part of the Education of the Children of the Poor.

Flattering myself that I shall receive your kind assistance,

Sir, with a full conviction that a feeling of pity for my severe misfortunes will stand my friend in the absence of connexion or interest I have taken the liberty to enclose for your perusal a Petition to His Majesty which involves the causes of my present unhappy situation. Upon the occasion of asking the honor of His Majesty's name, <sup>as a Subscriber to my work,</sup> you were kind enough to become the medium through which that high honor was procured me - may I now, Sir, humbly request that you will in this instance be the organ of benevolence, and in laying my petition before His Majesty at his best leisure, give me in my most ~~unpleasant~~ pressing necessity a chance of hope from that nobleness of heart yet kindly feeling which His Majesty is allowed to possess in a ratio with his high rank & office - I ask only, Sir, that I may not be allowed to starve - a situation as Tide Surveyor or Land waiter in the Customs - any situation in the Excise - in any of the public offices or in the Royal Household - any thing I should be most grateful for - or, Sir, should His Majesty be pleased to appoint me to the Commissariat Department <sup>on the Coast of Africa</sup> (I mention this only in <sup>the</sup> ~~the~~ furtherance of a ~~scientific point of view~~ object I have in view and for which I would not hesitate to risk my health in a climate that has been so fatal) a vacancy either does, or did lately exist owing to the death of my late friend Mr William Rodney Chambers at Sierra Leone. In taking the liberty, Sir, to ask your assistance for the Police (in a letter a short time since) I find I have wholly mistaken the mode, for that the application must be made to the Rt Honble Robert Peel. I should feel most truly grateful, Sir, for your kind attention to the enclosed petition - I assure you that I was at much expense in the prosecution of various experiments in connexion with Hydrophobia which could have had but one real object in view - general benefit - I have at this moment Sir, reason to believe that 2 or 3 vacancies as hand writers in the Post Office exist - I mention this, Sir, only to guide any kind intentions that a perusal of my severe fate, and it may be a belief that ~~disengage~~ my work on Hydrophobia is not that of an idle mind - may have have formed in your breast to assist one who has been most

To the King's Most Excellent Majesty.

The humble petition of Robert White, may it please Your Majesty Sheweth, that your Majesty's petitioner is a Surgeon, and for several years practised his profession in Brighton, where, your Majesty's petitioner, about four years since, thought it necessary for the cause of Science, to institute sundry experiments on Hydrophobics; and allowed his own person to become the medium, in the hope of being able to qualify that dreadful state of excitation and alarm, in which numbers of your Majesty's subjects are placed, from the apprehension of injury from animals in a Rabid state.

That your Majesty was graciously pleased to allow your petitioner to place your Royal Name at the head of the list of Subscribers to his work on Hydrophobia, and that your Majesty was pleased, (in a letter dated Dec<sup>r</sup>. 21th. 1825) to express that your petitioner's work had been received "very graciously," and further that your Majesty was pleased to direct that a donation of £10. should be sent to your petitioner. That your Majesty's petitioner, from the failure of the publishers of his work, during a period of general panic, and on the eve of the publication of his Book, was plunged into pecuniary difficulties, and subsequently compelled to dispose of his Practice to pay his just debts and avoid a prison.

That your Majesty's petitioner did pay almost every debt he owed to the utter ruin of himself and a young family. That your petitioner has since that period (from a total want of pecuniary means) been unable to reestablish himself in his Profession, though he has endeavoured so to do. That your petitioner is at this moment, with a wife, (in a state of almost hopeless melancholy from severe mental trial,) and a family of 2 young children, in the 30th year of his age reduced to the very extremity of distress - that he has no connexions - no interest - no hope of preserving his family from starvation, much less of supporting that respectability which the high and gracious patronage of your Majesty entailed upon him.

That

That he is now wholly without employment and unable to provide his family with the necessaries of life, though he is fated to see his opinions on Hydrophobia borne out in one instance on the authority of a very eminent physician in Germany, Dr. Barth and has had the good fortune to have his work well spoken of by the Profession generally. Your Majesty's petitioner most humbly prays that your Majesty will be graciously pleased to pity his severe misfortunes, and as he has no friend or connexion whose interest could in any way assist him, that your Majesty with your wonted goodness of heart (and in consideration of the benefits which it has been admitted he has rendered the cause of Science in the fearless investigation of a dangerous, dreaded, and ill-understood disease) will be most graciously pleased to appoint your petitioner to some trifling office in your Majesty's service by which himself and young family may be snatched from impending starvation, and his wife from the horrors of mental alienation, to which, it is too much to be feared, that severe and continued misfortunes will else consign her, and your Majesty's petitioner as in duty bound will ever pray.

Your Majesty's most loyal, dutiful & grateful Subject,

Robert White.

Sir,

An anxious desire to aid an unfortunate gentleman will I presume plead my excuse for presuming to address you - and respectfully requesting to submit his case to your very kind consideration

A week ago my Husband, M<sup>r</sup>. Denison, was requested in his Medical capacity, to visit a gentleman that was very ill, residing at N<sup>o</sup>. 20 George Street - on seeing him he found that his illness did not proceed so much from bodily disease as from mental agony and absolute starvation - On enquiry M<sup>r</sup>. D. learnt he was a Spanish Officer - his name is Colonel Latorre - The family where he resides speak of him as a gentleman of the strictest honor and integrity - and had it not been for their occasionally giving him a breakfast or a dinner, he would have perished for want of food - M<sup>r</sup>. Denison on his return mentioned the case to me and he has since been supplied with proper and nourishing diet - Col. Latorre is indebted to his Landlord about three pounds for the attic that he occupies - he has no means to pay - the principal of his clothes are in pledge for the sum of 6-18-0 without the interest - he was cruelly robbed of his money and clothes when confined to his bed - in consequence of having a bullet extracted from his neck by some of his Countrymen - Now is he left without money or clothes and friends in a strange land - The Colonel's mind is bordering on distraction at the misery of his situation and not receiving letters from Spain from his Mother who has frequently remitted him money - I am very desirous to afford the poor gentleman all the relief in my power - May I Sir - solicit your Benevolent assistance to enable him to liquidate his small debt for rent and to recover his clothes to protect him from the cold - could this be accomplished it would be a great means of calming his mind and be the most likely thing to restore him to the greatest of all blessings health -

Col - Latorre speaks but few words of English - he speaks frequently the word - Pension - wishing to know if he was upon the Government list - I requested a friend to call at the Comptrolers Office and enquire, who informs me that he is not - Mr - Scovall said he had been there in the greatest distress - I find he has written to the R<sup>o</sup> Hon<sup>ble</sup> Lord Fitzroy Somerset and Pele intreating to be put upon the Government list but as yet he has not had an answer - could he be so happy as to have his name entered there it would be a great comfort to him and an act of great charity - to one born to brighter prospects, and who has received many wounds in the service of his Country -

Should you wish to investigate further into this case, Mr - Aldridge with whom he resides and whose family have known Col Latorre three years; will I am sure readily answer any enquiries - Col Latorre did receive for some time one pound p<sup>r</sup> month from the fund raised for the Spanish Refugees - but for some weeks past it has been discontinued - owing I fear to the want of means -

I much intreat your forgiveness for this intrusion believe me Sir, nothing is farther from my wish, or intention; than to give offence - but I cannot be acquainted with such extensive misery and not use every means in my power to alleviate the sufferings of the poor Strangers.

Sir,

In the arduous endeavour to raise subscribers to enable me to get printed by subscription, a Novel of considerable merit from its moral characters, I venture to solicit you Sir, as a <sup>(gentleman)</sup> medical of great eminence and benevolent name, to do me the favour to subscribe to a copy of my work. — The enclosed paper shows that I am the daughter of the long-ago celebrated Brown, and that after a struggle of honourable exertion for many years, am wholly unprovided for the approaching evening of life! — Thus situated Sir, I am compelled with the view to pecuniary aid, to seek this means of printing my work, from finding how hopeless it is to meet with a bookseller, disposed to give it the chance of sale, by printing it for me on his own account. — You will conceive Sir, that the medical merits of my father, the circumstance perhaps, of having had four brothers in the service of his late Majesty, and the irreproachability of my own character, have procured me the high, and respectafrom the autography in my subscription book, I take the liberty to submit to your perusal. — In the hope Sir, that your

A Novel of peculiar interest and moral character.

The publication proposed, is for the benefit of the orbrated Dr. John Brown, author of the Elementa Medicinae and Pneumonion System of Physic: who died suddenly in the year 88 — and left a widow and eight children, totally unprovided for.

This lady, under all the disadvantages of a colomi-tous fortune, struggled to maintain herself as governess in families and by other mental and honorable means; till impaired health and advancing years, now render her no longer capable of such exertions. Thus circumstanced, she ventures to solicit the patronage of the liberal minded and good by their subscription to her work; which written under the pressure of adversity and suffering — she trusts will meet with that generous suffrance, which is ever found with the feeling benevolent and truly noble! —

My Dear Sir

This seems to be a case of deep distress - I have enclosed a Draft for twenty five pounds which you had better take to the Rev. Mr Wood at Fulham for the purpose of giving to this poor Gentleman, as we shall then know that it is properly applied.

You will see Mr. Wood's Testimonial. This is the reason why I make the Draft payable to this Gentleman - you should return this to Mr. Wright & the other two notes through Mr. Wood -

 The letter to me - you will be so good as to keep.

Your sincere friend
 W. Keighton

Sir

For my presumption in addressing you I beg leave to offer many and sincere apologies, but from the great humanity of your disposition, I trust you will kindly suffer the situation I stand in to plead my best apology; commonly not knowing in the morning when we rise, how we are to exist through the day, which the enclosed few lines from the most worthy

Vicar of the Parish, we reside in, will testify -

The lapse of two years and a half have not effaced the deep sense of gratitude I feel for His Most Gracious Majesty's Beneficent Donation of £20, which I received Sir through your kind inter-position from the hands of the present Lord Vernon (whose Lordship is the best friend we have found since our misfor-tunes and who is now abroad) since the time of which born by our affairs have far from had a favorable change in consequence of which having fail-ed in all my strenuous efforts for employment we are reluctantly compelled, to yield our wretched situation to the sympathy of a beneficent public; in the subjoined form: but not having the means of bread it may be supposed we have not the to defray the expences of advertisements; to facilitate which inconvenience I most earnestly entreat you Sir, in the name of a wife and four helpless babes, to use a small share of your great influence with the King, for a renewal of His Majesty's bounty, in the humane donation of a wife from the King's Privy Purse, which would greatly add to the weight of that gratitude already so much <sup>felt</sup> by His Majesty's true and devoted servant who has the honor to subscribe himself with unalterable gratitude and respect

Sir
Your most Obedt.
Humble Servt.

J. Fortescue Wright.

P.S.

I have taken the liberty to enclose, also, a few lines from Mr. Wm Bray who Edited the Memoirs of Sylvia Evelyn.

Deep Distress.

The grandson of the late Cap<sup>t</sup>. Fortunatus Knight R. V. (who greatly distinguished himself in the reign of George the 2nd) and a lineal Descendant of Sir Evelyn (author of Sylva) also nephew to the late Lieut<sup>nt</sup> Gen<sup>l</sup>. W. Evelyn Col<sup>l</sup> of the 29th Regt of Foot R. V. and to the present Sir J. Evelyn Bart (unfortunately a lunatic) from a series of unforeseen misfortunes (after unavailing and strenuous efforts for employment) now finding himself reduced to the last stage of dis-treſs with a wife and four infants: many days in each week knowing the want of bread, is compelled without alternative to yield his family's sufferings to the consideration of the affluent and humane: that they may be enabled to place themselves in some small respectable way, in which, by industry and perseverance to obtain the means of existence.

Mr. Wright begs leave to observe most respectfully, that the enclosed papers may be useful in the hands of Distress.
