Imperial Fire Insurance
Office

L 77. 10

906
1806

Mr. Whipple has the honour to return to Mr. Gray, by the Bears, the five plans received with Mr. Gray's favour of yesterday. It appears that the pavilion is constructed of timbers & faced with tiles. The building ought to be so described in the policies. If Mr. Whipple is not mistaken, the description in the Notice to Imperial Policies is "Stone & Slated." Under the circumstances of the structure, the rate cannot be less than $3\frac{1}{4}$; but from this, of course, $\frac{1}{4}$ will be deducted; so that the actual rate is, in effect, no more than $2\frac{1}{3}$. If Mr. Gray has no objection, the

the albion would prefer to take the Insurance thus,

On the Building of the Pavilion ————— 5000

On Household Goods,
Linen, Plate, Printed
Books, Dressing
Apparatus, therein — 5000
£10,000

£10,000 @ 3/- £15-
3/4 off — 3.15-
Premiums £11.5-
Duty — 12.10-
£23.15-

The other sums can be divided between the British & Imperial in any manner Mr. Gray may approve; but it will be necessary that that each office should be made aware of the sums insured elsewhere.

If the Carlton House Insurance be divided into three policies, not exceeding £15,000 in each on the principal building & its contents, & £5,000 in any one on the detached offices, the whole ought to be done at $2\frac{1}{6}$ per cent. At present the charge for £31,000 of the Insurance is $3\frac{1}{2}$.

suppose, for Example, the office were to be allowed to take

on Carlton House — 10,000

on its contents — 5,000 on the Stables Offices — 5,000

The whole of this would be £20,000 charged $2\frac{1}{6}$ — then there would be left for the Maritime

on Carlton House — 10000
on its Contents ————— 5000
£ 15000

£ for the Imperial
on Carlton House ^(11,000) 11,000
£ on its Contents ————— 4000
£ 15,000

both which policies ought to be taken at 2/6 — If these Companies objected, others would, no doubt, readily consent to this Rate.

Sr,

I have just now the honour of your letter of this morning; by which I perceive that the assurance on the provision is to be suspended until we have your further direction; & that you have it in view to propose an equal Division of the sum

Yours

on the Stables between the three Offices.

We are in the highest degree obliged by the kind disposition you have shown to admit us to some part of the Prince's Mews; but, with respect to the Stables, the opinion of the Directors decisively is, that they are too unsafe to be a desirable object of Insurance; & they beg therefore that you will allow them to decline any undertaking on that part of the property. I stated this to W. Day, the Secretary of the Imperial Company, yesterday; & I have repeated it to him since he saw you this morning. There are other Companies who would probably see no objection to the matter, should the Emperor dislike to continue this assurance on that part of the Risk to the present amount.

I have the honour to be,
Sir,

Your most obedt^t Servant

Robt. Keppel
