

Ld. Rockingham

Feb: 1 1766

333

Sir

I humbly presume to trouble your Majesty on the 20th of last Night in the House of Commons.

The Appearances there fully justify what I have presumed to mention to your Majesty in some late Conversations & makes it necessary for me
both as a Faithful & in Truth a most affectionate Servant humbly to hope that your Majesty will graciously be pleased to allow me to attend your Majesty at any Time this Evening.

Ld.

[Faint, illegible handwriting on a large sheet of paper, possibly a letter or document, with a vertical crease down the center.]

[Faint handwriting on the right edge of the paper.]

[Faint handwriting on the right edge of the paper.]

[Faint handwriting on the right edge of the paper.]

[Faint handwriting on the right edge of the paper.]

[Faint handwriting on the right edge of the paper.]

[Faint handwriting on the right edge of the paper.]

[Faint handwriting on the right edge of the paper.]

Ld. Rockingham

Feb: 1 1766

333 (2)

I shall then most humbly open to your Majesty the Sentiments & Opinions of a Heart which I will assert has no Motive but its Affection or Duty to your Majesty & its Society for your Majesty's Happiness & for the Welfare of this Country, in the present very critical Situation.

I have the Honour to be

With the most profound Respect
& Duty

Grosvenor Square
Saturday PM: 4 o'Clock
Feb: 2^d 1766

Your Majesty's Faithfully Attached
Subject & Servant
Borlase

Ed. Parkington
Feb. 14 1786.