

H. H. to Lord North

Letter to Lord North 259

New June 20th 1779.

on 30 p. 4. P. H.

Lord North, The speech fully answers my expectation and is framed in handsomer language than common; The debate that may arise on the new Writ for the Lord Advocate is a clear reason for postponing the Prorogation to Tuesday: I do not suppose after the promise you have made unto the Crowned Men that no additional Paper Currency shall be brought into the Market until October, that you can wish to apply for any further Aid from Parliament Therefore I cannot see the shadow of ground for delaying the Prorogation; the very wicked Protest is proof sufficient that whilst Parliament sits new matters to cause if possible general dissatisfaction is the object of Opposition; the high opinion I have of the Chamberlains makes me therefore surprised he can doubt the propriety of this measure. By the last paragraph of your letter I see my confidence of the past year and what was proposed by me was well founded; it is that will will ever secure you my warmest support. I desire you will be at the Queen's House exactly at One o'clock tomorrow, if you have any appointments you may afterwards return to them.

You will as you have proposed make the arrangements for Mr. Stewart and the Attorney General's friends, the latter with few and not without reason greatly offend the Chogy.
