Dear Sir

I have seen Mr. Blackman in consequence of your letter of this morning - in order that there might be no misunderstanding from loss of interest - ~~and~~ he has the authority of the Messrs. Sturgis to invest it in the 5th per cent Navy Annuities ^{which I have to beg you will see immedi^{ly} done} and ~~to~~ transmit me the Brokers receipt on receiving which I will immediately make an arrangement for the execution of the Deeds - The Names of the Trustees with their Additions you will find on the other side written in a legible hand to avoid any mistake & I request as a favor that you would give particular directions about this, as an error may occasion some difficulty at a future period to the parties -

Remember me kindly to Sam^l. & tell him I most sincerely wish him better - that whenever he is able and inclined to accept of my humble jaw at the Cottage at Ditchling he has only to give us a few ^{days} notice - Y^r D^r Faith^l & Respect^l

My dear Gay.

All the threatenings of Mr. Nash are as nothing, compared to my feelings upon the receipt of your letter. The Object of the King has ever been to render the Duties of your Office easy, & to relieve their harassing Character, by every possible means. I therefore hope & trust that your health may not suffer from continuing to hold the direction of the Project's Affairs, which you have so many years conducted with honor to yourself, & advantage to your Employer;

I can not, in language sufficiently strong, convey the King's sense of your Service; His Majesty has been pleas'd to sanction whatever aid you may desire for the purpose of closing these Accounts, thereby relieving you from the labourous parts. Upon this view of the transaction, His Majesty feels satisfied, that you will not withdraw your services from His Concerns, at the moment, when they are, not only so necessary, but in fact essential to the adjustment of Mr. Nash's accounts: I shall go to town, if expedient, for any then arrangement of shale only await your answer.

Believe me

Very dear Sir

Very sincerely yours

My dear Gray.

Your Letter was most acceptable to the King.

I need not tell you how it was welcomed by myself.

I send you a letter recd.

from Mr. Nash this morning.

It is, of course, private; that he has labored under peculiar disadvantage in the conduct of these concerns, I am free to allow, and that much except must be ascribed to the ^{alterations} ~~changes~~ that have taken place after the books have been nearly completed. He seems prepared to close the account which, after all, is the main object & I know their investigation will not be delayed.

Give me a sketch of the annual going out, that pass through you. The King's Income may be averaged at 90,000 a year applicable to His Private Expence, and as His Buildings are all but completed. I can not doubt the adequacy of our Supplies to meet all Demands upon other

Stems

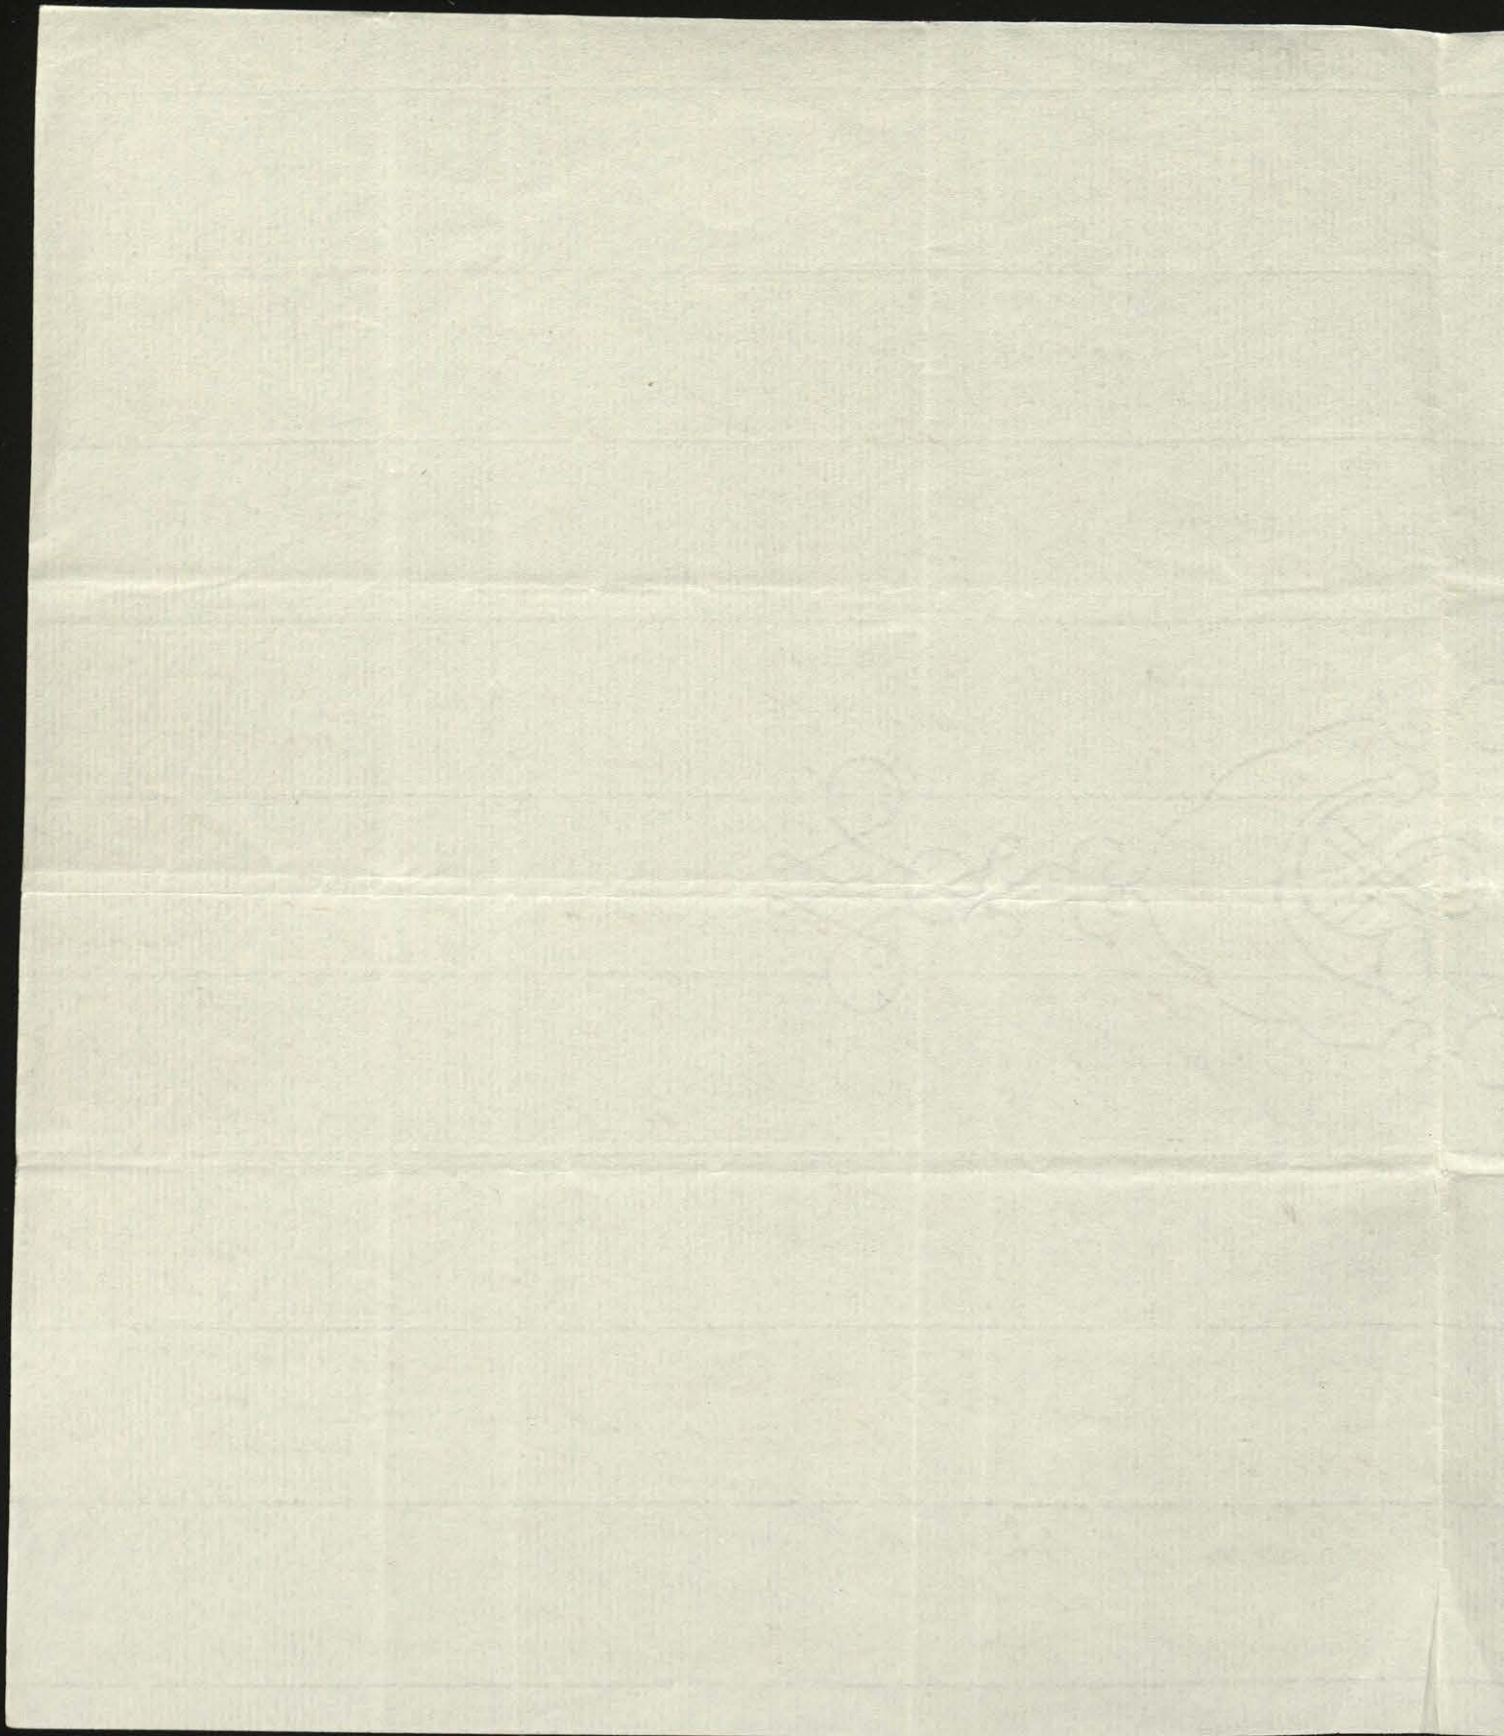

1821

The sincerest desire I can have is to render the transactions under your care of simple management & I hope to do so. and allow me to add that I can never sufficiently appreciate your services.

Believe me yours sincerely
R. Hayk Thos. Monro

My Dear Bloomfield -

I am grieved beyond every thing because I feel that I have inflicted (though unintentionally) pain on you - I will not aggravate your feelings by arguments in justification of myself - though much very much should be taken into consideration - That passage in your Letter when you said you had a pride in saying to thousands that so great a work had been done within my Estimate" there is so much friendliness in the sentiment that I shall never forget it - I have but one thing in my power in regard to the Accounts I have not nor will I charge the thing any thing for my self on 15000^{lb} my Commission would be 7800^{lb} - this charge most likely is expected & let it go to pay part of the balance - I have saved 40000^{lb} in the Carpenter & Puchlanger book that too will lessen a little the balance - I do not my dear friend to do this out of any personal motive to myself but to alleviate your distress - and as I will send you an exact statement of the Estimate as delivered to you verbatim I believe you will find that the Estimated works have very little exceeded - The Accounts we now all perfect & I have compared the payments with the several tradesmen that there may be no difference with them - I will write to you on other subjects to morrow it being now post time I am my dear friend ever faithfully yours Marsden I trust

Works at Brighton. 1812 to 1820.

General Account of Bills 31st 1814, and Annual Account from that time to June 1820, extracted from the Account held by M^r. Nash 21. March 1821.

Drawn out for the purpose of showing the progressive amount of the Expenditure, & comparing therewith the sums annually advanced to M^r. Nash, by way of ascertaining how far they agreed with each other.

Although the Data furnished by M^r.
Nash do not afford sufficient particulars for an accurate detail of the kind, they fully prove the fallacy of his occasional Estimates, and the inapplicability of his being allowed as to the general state of the account, his present account of the fact are comparative the amount of the bills with his stipulations.

24th March 1821

Statement of the Expenditure at Brighton and Circumstances attending it

The following are the Estimates delivered to Gen^l Bloomfield & will be found in his possession

Account of the works done in the	£	s	d
Years 1812-1813 1814 & 1815	30760	13	9
Estimates Dec 10. 1816	22000
Estimates Oct 21 1817	56000
Estimates July 27 - 1818	1090	2	0
Estimates Feb 10 - 1819	14930
----- Ditto	1005
Estimates Mar 3 - 1820	6600
Estimates May 4 - 1820	600
	134609	16	5

in examining the above Estimates it will be seen that the Carriage was to have been formed by Artillery waggons whereas in the account settled with Mr Gray it will be found that there was paid for the Carriage & freight

4225	16	5½
In Mr. Gray's account will also be found Interest & discount paid	3283	8	11½ and also the wages of Clerks of work Journeys & expenses of measuring	6075	9	8½ likewise for materials left on the premises	2461	19	6½
	153656	11	11
Total of Mr. Gray's Bills	161865	11	1¾
	£ 11109	0	0¾ by the above it would appear that the Estimates delivered were exceeded in the sum of £ 11109 - but when it is considered that those Estimates were only of new works & that they did not comprehend the Annual Renovations and repairs for 7 years of the new Buildings nor the repairs and alterations of the Houses in Marlborough Row and Castle

Square - the underground Draughts and pipes and the various alterations as the works proceeded all of which are included in Mr Gray's Account of the Expenditure amounting to £161,865. 11. 12 $\frac{1}{2}$ it may be justly inferred that the Estimates were as correct as Estimates (particularly of such difficult & unusual works) could be made -

Besides the foregoing Estimates ~~correcting~~ statements of the accounts were delivered to Gen^l Bloomfield on the Days following (cc)

June 10 1815
March 6 1816
April 6 1816
July 6 1816
May 15 1816
Oct 29 1817
Dec 10 1817
July 27 1818
Feb 10 1819
Nov 3 1820

In the above statements it will be seen that it is stated that there were other works included in the accounts not belonging to the Estimates I certainly had hopes throughout that the Estimates would have exceeded the actual cost and in that it would appear that I was not mistaken if the ~~works~~ not estimated are taken into consideration and which make a considerable portion of the accounts -

- am I therefore to blame if the state of the accounts were unknown

In all the Estimates for the pavilion the tents were considered as part of the ways & means and calculated as 4000 £ per annum which from 1815 would have been 28000 whereas 16287.0.7 only has been so applied leaving a deficiency of 11286.19.5

The cartage was also to have been performed by Artillery waggon whereas it will be seen in Mr Gray's account that there has been charged for freight and carriage 3804.2.2

The claim of the work, the expense of measuring and Journeys in the part of Mr.
 Gray's account 6075.9.8½

There has also been paid for Interest & discount } 3283.8.11½

There were materials left and what have been since used and are now using } 2461.19.6½

£ 26911.18.11½

In settling with Mr Gray the above sum of 26911.18.11½ were nearly equal to covering the balances

How then and in what can I be blamed (how) have I lost the Countenance of the King -

I am conscious that the work has ^{been} done at the least possible expense, indeed infinitely less than if it had been done in the usual way under Tradesmen
 - but Nixon more than me is entitled to this praise
 - he is the most diligent attentive & the most honest

No. 4
Brighton expenditure

Clerk of the works I have ever met with - and when His Majesty recollects that in two instances which did not concern me that I procured Carving to be done for 500 £ ^{for} which 1100 £ was about to be given and or moulds for 800 £ when 1500 £ was about to be given His Majesty may infer what the buildings would have amounted to had they been in similar hands
