My dearest Son. I should not do my feeling Justice if I employd one of Your Sisters to convey my thanks to You for the agreeable News Your Letters contained of the Attention You have shewn towards my beloved Country by numbering it amongst those who are to be benefitted by the Generous Subscription of this Nation for the relief of the wretched Sufferers in this long & deplorable War: I feel it the more as I well informed that Mecklenbourg Strvelitz without many resources has quietly laboured under very heavy Distresses without Complaining, & yet is come forward with Heart & Soul & no Assistance whatever to support the good Cause & never once either by threats or Promises was seen to shrink from acting right. & I shall certainly not fail to Inform my Brother of the Part You have so kindly taken upon this Occasion.

As You desire me to name the manner in which this Money is to be made over to my Brother, I am sure You will have no Objection to have it paid into the Hands of Jan Gysbinnus Lubbinck Pratz Best, who will be so good as to forward it to the Duke. May I beg a Line to be Informed when it is Paid, that I may then Inform my Brother of it.

I hope the Shaw will relieve Your Sufferings, for it is Melancholy to suffer so much, when one is engaged in doing so much good.
