My dearest Son. Tho I did not charge the Duke of Clarence with a letter for you on my departure like yr Sisters I beg you to be assured that I did not quit Brighton without sincere Regret & most truly Feeling all yr kindness & attention during my visit, to the Bottom of my Heart & for which I beg thro not Eloquenty to convey you my most hearty Thanks. Your Indisposition is the only thing I had to lament, but I am Encouraged by Dr H. H. to Hope that by this severe attack ^{you} we may expect that with taking real care Your Health will be strengthened as the Gouty Humour has thrown itself out & that all those little Insignificant Spasms which I was witness to before are now overcome which I trust will insure me ~~the~~ the Happenings of enjoying more of Your Company in Future.

To all of those that did the Honours during Your Confinement I feel much obliged for their unrearied attention as well as to the Civility of all the Society & Inhabitants of the Houses belonging to You all of whom have contributed much to the agreeableness of Our Sejour.

I had the Pleasure of finding Augusta well, Sophia certainly better wear, & the King than God in a very Calm state, which I am sure You will be glad to hear. I shall be happy to learn either by a letter from William or G^{dy} Bloomfield that You go on Improving in Strength which will afford the greatest Comfort to My dearest Son
