

H. H. to Mr. North

x
The King's to Mr. North
Printed. Dec 17 1780

3784
Queens House April 25. 1780
5th 7. A.M.

The considerable Majority last Night, gives me the hope that the House of Commons now Individually feel the length to which Opposition are driving, and that it is culpable for Men at an hour like this to stand steady, but that every one is called upon by their Inclination as well as Duty to resist what no one can deny is a plan of changing the Constitution; at least these sentiments are so much uppermost in my breast, that I naturally suppose they must reside also in those of others.

[Faint, illegible handwriting on a rectangular piece of paper pasted onto the main document.]

25 Op. 1980