Sir

from a conversation I had this morning with Sir L<sup>o</sup>m Trarwell, I thought it was not improbable that His Majesty might have honoured me with a message to Your Royall Highness. And fearing, Sir, at present, that Your Royall Highness might be doubtfull whether any thing on the Subject had been mentioned by His Majesty to me, I beg leave to say that His Royall Highness
The Prince of Wales. The

The Subject was not mentioned by His Majesty, or I should have seized the first moment to have waited on Your Royall Highness.

I have the honour to be with the most profound Respect

Sir

Your Royall Highness' most devoted and obedient Humble servant
