

A.A.

Col. Wm. Fullarton to Capt. Payne,

Nov. 24. 1788 (Aspinall)

38263 - 4

Dear Payne

I arrived from the north last night & immediately called for you at Carleton House, but finding that there is no probability of your being in town for some days, I must trouble you with this letter, to assure you, how much I shall be flattered if you suggest to me any means of rendering myself usefull in the present state of things & of proving my sincere zeal & attachment to the cause & interests of His Royal Highness — I need not tell you, that

A.A.

Col. Wm. Fullarton to Capt. Payne,

Nov. 24. 1788 (Aspinall)

38264

It is a subject of no less joy than exultation to all your friends, ^{that} the general applause & admiration, which His Royal Highness has excited in the mind of every man, by the superior manner of his acting in such trying scenes, is considered by the nation at large as affording the best grounded expectations & prognostications of his future government —

quishing
life, if I had
do, to merit
you have
and I ought
my self in right
them; and if you
hours con-

you at Windsor.
and I not been
you must

ays
and
th. fully yours
Fullarton

From Pauline