

Ld. Rando to Capt. Payne,

38376

Monday Morning

My Dear Sir

Lovden told me yesterday evening that Mr Sheridan had been anxious to copy his (Lovden's) minute of part of Dr Warren's examination, hinting that it was for the information of the Prince of Wales. Lovden, for what reason I cannot comprehend, declined imparting his notes. Tho' I am doubtful whether the communication may not now be too tardy to gratify my curiosity, yet as there is still a chance of its being ac-ceptable, I send a hasty copy from the copy which Lovden suffered me to examine. You will see that the detail is inaccurate excepted; but I would not correct any thing You so good as not to mention publicly in the account comes from Lovden, for she indeed I have no authority for what I am doing.

Very faithfully, Sir & Madam, your most obed^t serv^t

Cap. Poyne
