My dear Sir

I beg the favor you to assure His Royal Highness that it would have given me the greatest pleasure imaginable if it had been possible for me to have taken His recommendation for Peterfield I mention it as much as I could to the Duke of Devon. But I flatter myself that the Prince will be sensible how almost impossible it was for Mr Ellis to ^{be} refused. And that it will think it a considerable advantage to the Party to have a man of such respectability in Parliament - I am going to return tomorrow but at my return shall be much obliged to you to mention to His Royal Highness my desire to have the honor of speaking to him

I am with very sincere regard my dear Sir

Most truly yours

M. Pitt
