Si

I implore your Royal Highness never to impeach my devotion of making an excuse for leaving your commands open as at any time or in any shape.

The Paper is not to be delivered to the King till Wednesday, therefore there is time for attending to the measure suggested by your Royal Highness. That it could make part of the minutes of Cabinet, I doubt; as that is to keep strictly to the King's question: but it is well worthy of consideration whether it ought not to be submitted as a separate advice. On that point I will be so true in consulting. Lord Newcastle advised me today that he meant to urge the King in the strongest manner to signify his desire of seeing your Royal Highness at Windsor on Thursday. We had no doubt but that it would be the King's wish. I shall beg of Duty to your Royal Highness of eleven

Sir,

Your Royal Highness's most humble & most respectfully devoted servant
