Lord Murlow to HRH

Sir

Sept. 9. 1799.

I am extremely mortified, that I am not able to attend your Royal Highness any where, but in this Dog-hole; where my only journey is being wheeled from Bed to Coach, and back again to Bed. But, if your Royal Highness will condescend to call here at two o'clock to-morrow, I shall be happy to find it in my power to suggest any thing satisfactory to your Royal Highness.

I have the Honour to be Sir your Royal Highness's most Delightful and obedient Servant
Thurston
