Capel.

July 8. 1800.

Sir,

I return your Royal Highness my most heartfelt Thanks for having dispatched Lindeman back again to me, who has made his Passage uncommonly quick.

I anticipated so much in my Letter of the 4th which I sent to your Royal Highness from Minden, that I have not occasion to trouble you at much length at the present moment. I am certain had Mr. Howe not been a promise of the whole of the Landgrave's debt being at his disposal in three days time, nothing on earth would prevail upon him to enter upon any Plan which had for its tendency the vesting any more of his Property in England; happy indeed am I therefore to find that for this year at least Your Royal Highness stands not in need of his assistance, and it forcibly strikes my mind that you will have occasion to make no ulterior Request of a similar kind.

Veltheim advised me not to trouble yourself there on the Business, which Advice I shall very readily follow.

H. R. A. the Duke of Clarence does not succeed in his Request for the Loan of £20,000 -

I set out tomorrow for Berlin I shall not fail to settle with Mout. de Schack, & then immediately come to England -

I have made an Arrangement with Lindemann which I think will

Mr. Malloch & all his companions to set out without further delay to join the 10. Jaan.

I must do Justice to Count Sauerzee's friendship for your Royal Highness, who hearing I was here, wrote to me an extreme kind letter of enquiry into the State of your Health - most fortunately I had it in my Power to acquaint him that a Serje of bedgwood was arrived for him as a Present from your Royal Highness.

very <sup>well</sup> but much reduced indeed -

I have sent Admiral Payne some Mineral waters which are in the highest estimation all over Germany as great strengtheners of the stomach - should either of them be to your taste, any quantity may easily be procured -

I beg leave to assure your Royal Highness, I am,

Your grateful &
obedient servant,

Thos. Tzrowhitt.
