My Dear MacMahon

I received yours in this northern Region too late Yesterday to write in answer - The Duke of Clarence had signified the Princes commands to me before I should have got to Lauderdale the only ship I could - I thought it my duty however to convey your letter to Lord Mordaunt & the Duke of Devonshire his Director I was ready to do what he should think right.
I remain as you had written from an a supposition, I was in London & he had got, as he had, that every proper course was to put myself

Myself under His Lord's Command
I have by this post conveyed the contents of your letter to Lauderdale, & what I have done - I hope His Royal Highness the Prince will consider this as the proper Course -

Yours most faithfully

W. Adam
