Lucas House Jan 4th 1781.

on the 4th A.M.

I am no farther sorry for the House of Commons not being in a situation to come with the Address this Day, as it shews the unwillingness of Gentlemen to be Members of the Committee of Elections, which as the Law now stands is certainly an essential part of their Duty; perhaps if the business can go on this Day that two o'Clocks may be more convenient to the House than three on Monday, as the business will then be less interrupted by the presenting the Address.
