

Aristarchus

July 14 1781

4262

If the Outline of the plan, mentioned in N^o 87, for holding a general Congress of all the Sovereign States in Christendom, for the Special purpose of Electing a Naval Emperor, shall meet the Ideas of his Majesty, the Amanuensis who is in correspondence with every Philosophical ^{European} Academy in one particular Science, hath it in his power to engage their pens in such manner, that on one and the same Day, a pamphlet capitally well-written on that Subject, shall be published in every Sovereign State throughout all Christendom, as it were by universal Consent, the Kingdoms of France, Spain, & Sicily excepted, whenever his Majesty shall be graciously pleased to signify his pleasure on this Head, through the Secretary of State for the American Department, &c

N^o 88.
July 14. 1781.

Aristarchus.

[Faint, illegible handwriting on a piece of aged paper, possibly a letter or document fragment.]