Mr Robinson had the Honour to Obey your Majesty's Commands, and to send last Night the intelligence to Lord Sandwich. About Ten Days ago Mr Robinson submitted his Opinion to Lord North, that the Parliament should not meet until the 27th of November, which would give sufficient time to vote the Common Supplies before Christmas, and Mr Robinson at the same time laid before Lord North an Arrangement of the Issues of Money for carrying on the Services of the present year until that time, taking Care to reserve a considerable Sum in hand to answer Bills that may be drawn from America. His Majesty Mr Robinson begs leave humbly to submit to Your Majesty. Lord North thought this was running near in our Funds, but he seemed so much to acquiesce in it, on repeated Conversations, that Mr Robinson took it for granted to be fixed, and has ever since acted accordingly. Mr Robinson will however this Morning send a Messenger to Lord North to request that he will apprise Your Majesty of his Sentiments
