ld. George Germain to the King.

Lord George Germain begs leave to submit to your Majesty's consideration the Drafts of the letters which may be dispatched to morrow night if they meet with your Majesty's approbation. Lord George hopes to have the honor of receiving your Majesty's Commands upon them to morrow after the Levee, but he apprehends from the variety of business which will be ^{there} brought before your Majesty that it may be less troublesome shamefully to submit them in this manner for your Majesty's approbation.
