Lord North has the honour of informing his Majesty, That the Loan has been voted today in the Committee of Ways & Means after some debate but without a division.

General Conway gave notice of another American Motion for Wednesday, & Lord North, from every thing he is able to learn, is much afraid that the General has too fair a prospect of success. Lord North will endeavour to learn the Motion if he can, & will take every means to secure an attendance but he is apprehensive, that many persons whom he may send for, ~~will~~ may vote against him, so little can he depend upon the House in any question of that nature.
