

H. M. to Ld. Shelburne

4784

Windsor May 28. 1702<sup>on 28th 1702</sup>

It is easy to explain the servants at Mr. James's repeating a Leave tomorrow, and Mr. Fraker being of a contrary opinion; the 30. of January being a Fast day, I ought if I appeared to go to Church and wear mourning, for which reason I always skip the day, but I appear as usual on the 29. of May that being an Holyday if it fall on a Court Day; Ld. Shelburne was quite right in writing to Me for an explanation which Authority is the true one; I hope Ld. Shelburne is getting the better of the influence; the Chancellor mentioned his sending the Account of the Debate arose from that Indisposition.

[Faint, illegible handwriting on lined paper]

201
Berkley Square May 28. 1782
46 N<sup>o</sup> 7
My answer Windsor May 28. 1782.
201