My dear Countess,

I have not had time till the present moment, to return my best thanks to you for your letter; & upon you may depend upon it has done the best I can but I hope the Anne is on the Shore due to the Sea. As to Robert, if it is any comfort to you you may certainly take him with you, as I wish you shall times to be as comfortable as possible. I have only time before the Post goes but to thank you for your accounts of the dear child, & to desire you will let me

1788

Dear from you, as soon as you have accomplished your journey. You had best write a line to Sticks, at the Grange Hampshire, to let them know what night you intend to be there.
I already told them to prepare the breakfast in order to have the best of acid, & something for you to eat. Adieu dear Lady, Daughter.

Respectfully
George B.

P.S. I am glad to see that Lady Stanhope
& her son, her father-in-law, are arrived at Weymouth
