The Prince of Wales having thro' the Earl of Albion expressed His wish that the Education and Care of the Person of His Daughter shall be placed under the immediate Inspection of the King. His Majesty is willing to take that Charge upon Himself, and has prepared an House at Windsor for the reception of the Princess Charlotte.

The Sum now issued in each Quarter out of His Majesty's Civil List, for the maintenance and Education of the young Princess should in future be paid into the Hands of the Person who shall be named by the King to defray those Expences, and such additional Charges arising from the Change of Establishment will be defrayed by the King.

His Majesty proposes to Name a Bishop to superintend Princess Charlottes Education, as it cannot alone be that of a Female; but she being the Presumptive Heir of the Crown must have one of a more extended Nature.
His Majesty also thinks it desireable that the Bishop should fix on a proper Clergyman to Instruct the young Princess in Religion and Latin, and daily to read Prayers: That there should be another Instructor for History, Geography, Belles Lettres, and French, and Masters for Writing, Musick, and Dancing: That the Care of the Person and Behaviour of the Princess should be entrusted to a Governess (as she must be both Day and Night under the Eyes of Responsible Persons) That a Sub Governess, and Assistant Sub Governess should also be named.

These seem the necessary outlines to form such a Plan as may make so promising a Child turn out as it is the Common Interest of the King, all His Family, and indeed the whole Nation eagerly to wish.

It may not be improper to add that the Conduct of The Dowager Countess of Elgin has been so exemplary, that though her Age and Weak State of Health must make her retiring necessary, that The King will give her a Pension equal to her present Salary.
