6 Jan
1805.

The Lord Chancellor, with every sentiment of humble Duty, informs your Majesty that he yesterday communicated the Note, which he had the Honor of receiving from your Majesty, to His Royal Highness The Prince of Wales. He humbly hopes that your Majesty will not disapprove the Chancellor's having sent a Copy to the Prince, instead of the Original, observing that your Majesty, in the hurry of writing it, had accidentally written the word "for" instead of the word "from". The Earl Morvia did not come to Town, but the Chancellor apprehends he communicated his Sentiments to the Prince by Mr. Maffinger, whom the Chancellor had sent to Downington
