His Majesty has,
next to doing His Duty, nothing more at Heart, than that the Arrangement for the due Care of the Person and Education of His dear Grand Daughter The Princess Charlotte, should be settled to the Satisfaction of all Parties; of which He will give the fullest Proof, as He finds The Prince of Wales doubts the Idea of the Fitness of Baroness Howe, whom The King would most undoubtedly have named as Governess, if the Appointment had respected one

one of His own Daughters; His Majesty however waves the Idea on the present Occasion; & after the severe Loss which she has sustained within these few Days, a Doubt might reasonably be entertained, whether she would accept the Situation, if the Appointment had met with the Approbation of all Parties.

The King, having Reason to believe the Dowager Countess of De Clifford would be acceptable to the Prince of Wales, and being convinced of her excellent Sense and to cast His Eyes on her of Governess to The Princess this being agreed to, no farther Difficulties will be made respecting the Suggestions in the Paper transmitted through the Lord Chancellor.
