

The Chancellor
January 29. 1805

The said Chancellor offers his most humble Duty to your Majesty, and has the Honour to transmit to your Majesty a letter, which he received from Sir James last Night. It happened not to come to the said Chancellors hands till it was too late to forward it to Windsor, although certainly sent in time for that purpose by Sir James.
