Syon Hill Nov. 1. 1784.

Mr. Robinson is very sorry that, from the distance he was at, and his apprehending the Appointment to be to meet in town, He had it not in His Power to return the Securities in time for the Meeting at Langley this Morning between Mr. Drummond and Mr. Best. But having this Instant seen Mr. Drummond here, they lose not a Moments time to transmit them to Your Majesty —

Mr. Drummond desires, with Mr. Robinson, to assure Your Majesty that they will strictly pursue Your Majesty's Sentiments in regard to any Communication to Lord North.

your Majesty, in consequence of your Majesty's Gracious Permission, that Lord wishes to decline accepting it. - No appointment suggests itself to Mr Pitt more proper

Mr Pitt has not been able to learn accurately the Practice of former Occasions which He Presumes would naturally be his Duty to submit it to your Majesty's Consideration without Loss of Time, as the Nomination of the different Sheriffs in the Exchequer is on Friday next.

& note of H. M.'s reply

Nov. 20 1784

5919

Lord Carmarthen begs leave, with all humility, to inform your Majesty, that the Baron de Lynden came to the Office today by appointment. The motive of his having desired a conference, was solely the delivering the memorial which Lord Carmarthen takes the liberty of now sending for your Majesty's perusal.

The Baron stated the situation in which the Republic was now situated, in consequence of the unjust Pretensions of the Emperor, & the measure, likely to be adopted by that Prince, in order to support them, at the same time expressing a hope, that your Majesty, would together with the other leading Powers of Europe, readily employ the interposition of good Offices, in order to prevent the unjust, & dangerous Designs of the Emperor, from being carried into execution. To this ^{Le Camille} ~~Le Camille~~ only answerd, by observing to Baron de Lynden, how much it was for the interest of Great Britain & Holland to live upon a footing of real, and sincere Friendship, & that the Baron could not be ignorant, that the best, & most glorious Times of His Republic, had been, while she was connected with England, by the strictest ties of mutual trust, & unfeigned confidence. To this the Baron agreed, but remark'd, we must not look back. ^{Le Camille} ~~Le Camille~~ then express'd his disposition to hear him, upon the present situation of things between the two Countries. The Baron appeared in perfect good humour during the time of the conference.

Lord Carmarthen thought it his Duty to state to your Majesty the substance of this first conference, which he hopes will plead his excuse for having trespass'd so long on your Majesty's Time.

Hartlebury Dec^r 2^d 1784

Sir

Your Majesty's gracious Letter of the 20th past from Windsor, found me preparing to settle my little concerns here in such a way that I might be able to obey any commands your Majesty should be pleased to honour me with at ^{this} season. The cold weather has removed the complaints that were so troublesome in the summer: so that nothing, I hope, can prevent my reaching Windsor the day before Christmas day. And I shall scarce be able not to avail myself of your Majesty's most obliging Postscript, to stay a day or two after.

Report had published everywhere the honours Prince Frederick had received at the different courts he visited this summer. But your Majesty's comfort & the satisfaction of those who are sincerely attached to his Royal Highness, is, that he deserved them all by his own proper & princely conduct.

I shall desire Colonel

1886 Goldsworthy to deliver this paper, as I take for granted he is now in waiting upon your Majesty at Windsor.

Lord Carmarthen has judged very properly in dispatching the Messenger without waiting for the D. of Dorset's letters that of M^r. Halket containing so material information, and that fully decides the effect the French Declaration of the 20th of Nov^r. will have on the Emperor's mind. I think it clear now that Ambitious Monarchs will not retreat, and not less so that He will neither forget nor forgive the conduct of the French Court

also to be some difficulty, in any
