

Lord Chatham. March 3. 1767.

<sup>m</sup>
25. p. 7. Ch.

604

3 Mar 1767

Printed. Chatham's Letters, III, 228

Lord Chatham begs to be permitted to lay himself with all Duty and Submission at the Kings Feet, and to pour out a Heart overflowing with the most Reverential, and warm Sense of his Majesty's infinite Condescension. He intreats most humbly to renew the Favour of his Devoted Services, grieving to think how feeble they are, Every Hour more and more animated by the truly Royal Magnanimity of his Majesty, after the unaccountable Event of Friday.

He is most unhappy still to continue out of a Condition to attend his Majesty's most gracious Presence.

Tuesday Evening 25 Min. past 7.

